Armed Force of Federal Agents Quits Iron River—"Revolt" Flickers Out

Failure Due to Lack of Support From Washington, Says Dalrymple

IRON RIVER, Mich., Feb. 26.—The armed force of federal agents, under command of Major A. V. Dalrymple, who came here from Chicago to "put down a liquor rebellion in the upper Michigan peninsula," today had been withdrawn and the "revolt" itself had flickered out. The only casualties were nine barrels of home-made wine taken by revenue agents from a parish priest's house where the state had stored its for safe keeping, and poured into the snow.

Major Dalrymple announced he would go to Washington to lay all the facts before Commissioner Krammer. State Attorney McDonough reiterated he would demand "a full and complete investigation of this affair and of Major Dalrymple's part in giving the United States the impression that Iron River is in 'revolt' and is inhabited by savages."

Lack of support from Washington, Major Dalrymple said, had caused the failure of his "expedition" but he declared he would not quit his office unless Commissioner Krammer requested it.

DEATHS FROM FLU EPIDEMIC

The Present Epidemic Is Not Nearly as Serious as in the Fall of 1918

1112 Cases Reported Thus Far—News of the Day at City Hall

The present epidemic of influenza in Lowell is not anywhere near as deadly or entailing as many cases as the first epidemic here in the fall of 1918, according to board of health records. This year's epidemic is now in its sixth week, having been noted first on Jan. 19. Up to date 1112 cases have been reported and 34 deaths due to influenza or pneumonia with influenza complications. Twelve deaths have been due to straight influenza.

In the corresponding weeks of the 1918 epidemic, which began Sept. 20, there were six times as many cases reported as in the current epidemic, or a total of 6562. In that epidemic 344 deaths were caused in the first five weeks, 140 of them being due to straight influenza and the others to pneumonia with influenza complications.

That the present epidemic is on the wane is hardly to be doubted from the meagre reports of the past few days. Only four cases had been reported up to noon today with no deaths. There were ten cases yesterday with three deaths.

"Snowed Out"

Evidently the generous deluge of winter bestowed on Lowell within the past few weeks has dampened interest in presidential delegates for although City Clerk Stephen Flynn has had nomination papers for delegates-at-large and district delegates available at his office for several weeks, none has yet been taken out. Tomorrow the registrars of voters will hold their first sessions of certification of such papers but from present indications the registrars will have nothing to do. Three more certification sessions will be held on March 5, 12 and 19. The

AUTOMOBILES DAMAGED

Garage Roof in Ford Street Collapses Under Heavy Weight of Snow

A garage owned by the Lowell Motor Mart and located in Ford street was wrecked and three automobiles were damaged when the roof of the building covered with about four feet of snow went down with a crash late yesterday afternoon. Fortunately, there was no one in the vicinity of the building when the crash occurred.

At the time of the accident there were six cars in the building: three new Dodge touring cars of the four-passenger type, and three second-hand machines. The windshield and hood of one machine was badly smashed by pieces of timber, while the tops of two others were crushed. It is figured the damage will exceed $2000.

It was learned this morning that the three Dodge cars which were in the garage had been sold but not delivered and that one of the proprietors of the Lowell Motor Mart, Mr. Stephen Rochette, and nine other Lowell men left this city last Tuesday morning for Detroit, Mich., and that they are now on their return trip coming over the road with ten Dodge cars, which the railroad was unable to transport owing to the freight embargo.

RENEW FIGHT ON PEACE TREATY

Pact Came Back to Floor of Senate To Be Given Right of Way Until Disposed Of

Final Vote Expected in Three Weeks—Both Sides Prepared For Bitter Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The peace treaty came back to the floor of the senate today to be given the right of way until disposed of. It is believed that not more than three weeks will be consumed in disposing of amendments to the reservations adopted at the last session of congress, before a final vote on the pact is reached. After that vote, whatever the outcome, the treaty will be seen no more on the calendar, according to senate leaders who will await the verdict on the question at the polls in November.

Senator Reed, democrat of Missouri, who has been one of the most active foes of the treaty, announced he planned to speak today.

Frankly declaring that nobody could tell what would happen, republican and democratic leaders went back into the fight prepared to use every parliamentary weapon to strengthen their sides.

OLD BILL BAY STATE MAKES COMEBACK

After an all-night fight against the ice which threatened to clog the rails even within the city limits, the Bay State division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. held more open track at daybreak today than when the sun went down yesterday. Many lines are not open to their full extent, however, and the division keenly feels the loss of disabled cars and plows and a working force depleted because of sickness.

The line to Lawrence was lost during the night, when a plow left the rails just this side of Indian Orchard. The Lawrence division was not able to keep its track open beyond the Willows and as a result the line froze over and was not open today. Cars were running from Merrimack square to Brookside, about one-third of the route.

At noon, city and suburban routes were open as follows:

Westford street, to the end.
Chelmsford Centre, to Jeuness street.
Reading, to Oakland square.
Billerica Centre, to Carlisle street.
Broadway, to Fletcher street.
High street, to Oak.
Oaklands, to the end.
Lakeview avenue, to Parker avenue.
Hovey square, to Aiken avenue.
Dracut Centre, to the end.
Christian Hill, to Beech street.
Andover street, to Daniels street.
North Chelmsford, to the end.
Highlands, to Liberty street.
Moody street, to Gershom avenue.
Paulkettville and Varnum avenue, to end of bridge.
Lawrence street, to Bolt shop.
Efforts were being concentrated this afternoon on the Reading, Collinsville, Billerica Centre and Chelmsford street routes, although all available plows and men were out in all sections of the city attempting to break through.

BOND DRIVE AT $40,000 MARK

Campaign For Irish Republic Funds Is Drawing to a Close

$60,000 Must Be Raised in Two Days If Lowell Is To Secure Quota

With only two days left in which to reach its quota of $100,000, Lowell's Irish bond campaign had not made even the halfway mark this afternoon and the best the committee in charge could do was announce a total of $19,000 already raised.

However, there is every expectation that this figure will be given a substantial boost between now and Saturday evening. The unfavorable weather has prevented many of the team captains from visiting headquarters to make their reports and as yet there have been few large subscriptions announced. It is known that several "four figure" contributions will be forthcoming before the drive is ended and with the 500 team workers spurred on in the final hours of the drive to collect every possible bond buyer, there is reason to believe that the quota will be very closely approached before the curtain is drawn.

This afternoon many of the workers were able to give all their time to the drive as the downtown stores are closed. The house to house canvass is being conducted persistently in all parts of the city and there is also a lively business being done in the campaign.

MAYOR THOMPSON STILL ON SICK LIST

Mayor Perry D. Thompson is still confined to his home by illness and has been advised by his physician to remain there until Saturday. Accordingly, the municipal council again postponed action on the annual budget at its meeting this morning.

The only business of interest to come up at the meeting was a request from the local post of the American Legion asking the council to appropriate $2500 for the observance of Memorial day. The matter will be taken up when the annual budget is considered.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 11.10, with Commissioner Marchand presiding.

N. W. Matthews, Jr., was appointed a weigher of coal, and Joseph L. Pidgeon a constable.

Mary Silva entered a claim for personal injury. Referred to the law department.

A communication from Lowell post, No. 87, American Legion, asked that the council appropriate $2500 for the proper observance of Memorial day. On motion of Commissioner Donnelly the matter was referred to the city auditor to be included in the annual budget.

The city auditor was authorized to issue a warrant on the city treasurer for the payment of $210 to the purchasing agent for the purchase of postage stamps.

The council then approved several bills, among them one for partial payment for the new water department, pumping engine and another for the payment of the architects of the memorial auditorium.

Adjourned at 11.20 until Saturday at 10 o'clock.

Woman and Four Children Perish

MONTREAL, Feb. 26.—Mrs. M. Gregory and her four children were burned to death early today, in a fire which destroyed their home at Greenfield park, east. Mrs. Gregory and a two-day-old baby were lying in bed on the second floor of the home when the other three children, who were playing on the lower floor, accidentally set fire to the house.

EVANGELISTIC REVIVAL MOTORCYCLIST FINED

Big Attendance at Tabernacle Meeting This Afternoon—Sermon on "Power"

Fair skies favored the evangelistic revival today and were largely instrumental in raising the attendance at the 2.30 o'clock meeting to approximately 1500. Dr. George T. Stephens took "Power" for his subject and deeply impressed his congregation with the earnestness of his utterances. A meeting for personal workers will be held in the tabernacle annex at 6.45 o'clock and in order to ensure the attendance at this service of seating accommodations at the regular evening meeting, spaces will be reserved for them. The subject of the evangelist's evening sermon will be "Personal Responsibilities."

Dr. Stephens spoke to fathers and sons at last night's meeting and, although curtailed transportation facilities kept the congregation down to a comparatively small scale, the tabernacle was fairly well filled.

Several groups of fathers and sons from different churches occupied seats at the front of the building and the sermon was particularly aimed at them.

CHARTER HEARING WAS POSTPONED

The hearing which the legislative committee on cities was to have given at the state house at 10.30 this morning on the so-called Corbett charter was postponed until 3 p. m. There are indications that a later hearing will be given on the proposition in this city as a result of efforts on the part of Rep. Corbett and the chamber of commerce. Letters have been forwarded by the chamber of commerce to the local delegation as well as the committee members pointing out that a local hearing would permit a wider discussion of the bill than would be possible at the state house with a limited number of people from Lowell attending. However, no definite action on this score has yet been taken.

WITNESSES FOR DEFENSE CALLED

Testify To Having Seen Bartley Promissory Notes Long Before Murder

Burke Tells of His Life at Jackson and About Liquor Smuggling Transaction

SKOWHEGAN, Me., Feb. 26.—John A. Burke today took the stand and gave his version of what happened on the night of the disappearance of Nelson W. Bartley, for whose murder he has been on trial the past two weeks in the supreme court. He began his story after two additional witnesses for the defense had been examined.

Leo Jackson was allowed to testify that he had seen the Bartley promissory notes and the receipts which the state contends were forged by Burke, although the attorneys for the state had objected yesterday afternoon to such evidence. He said he had been shown the notes by Mrs. Burke about the first of last June.

Jackson's testimony was corroborated by Arthur Libby, who said he had seen the notes at Burke's home before Bartley was killed. The defense contends they would not have been shown while Bartley was living if they had been forgeries.

Burke began his story by telling of his life at Jackson and about the liquor smuggling transaction. He said he had been employed as common woodsman, river driver, railroad man and officer of the law. He went to Jackson about 13 years ago from Fairfield, and was married 10 years later to Miss Flossie Williams.

SOFT COAL TIED UP HERE ON SIDE TRACKS

Between 50 and 60 cars of soft coal, consigned to various Lowell textile mills and public utilities, are frozen in on side tracks in local freight yards today as the result of yesterday's storm and the cold weather, last night. As no coal rolled in last night or this morning, the supply on hand, although inaccessible, has not augmented since Tuesday.

Cars in the yards today are consigned to several local dealers, the Lowell Gas Co., the Hamilton, Massachusetts and Tremont & Suffolk corporations, the American Hide & Leather and Saco-Lowell shops.

With an acute shortage of men in addition to the freeze-up last night, hardly a car moved in the yards today. Freight transportation was at a standstill and it was not until afternoon that the trackmen succeeded in opening switches tightly sealed. It was slow work and had to be done by men with handpicks.

SUPREME COUNCIL TAKE UP WILSON'S NOTE

LONDON, Feb. 26.—President Wilson's note to the supreme allied council relative to the Adriatic settlement was ready for consideration when the council opened its session this morning. Although officials have made no statement relative to the contents of the note, it is understood not to contain the menace of American withdrawal from European affairs, but insists upon the adoption of the Adriatic plan agreed upon Dec. 9 last.

"Conciliatory in form, but firm in substance, and distinctly more moderate than its predecessor," is the description which the Daily Mail understands is applicable to Mr. Wilson's note. The newspaper adds the communication will be answered by Great Britain and France, as Italy takes the attitude that the note does not apply to her in view of the standing engagement that, failing a compromise on the Adriatic question, the pact of London will be put into force.

ASQUITH "COME BACK" NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT

LONDON, Feb. 26.—All political questions are for the moment completely eclipsed by the triumphant return to parliament by a majority the size of which astonished everybody, including his own supporters. The result is universally recognized as a notable personal achievement, even for a statesman with Mr. Asquith's long record, while the restoration of his presence and influence in the councils of parliament is held to be an event destined to have important consequences in the politics of Great Britain and probably the world.

Demands Wages Be Doubled

VIENNA, Feb. 26.—Demands have been made by municipal employees, for salaries double those they are at present receiving. The men ask that these salaries be retroactive to January 1, and include all present pension allowances. It is estimated that these demands, if granted, would cost 300,000,000 crowns annually.

Paderewski Through With Concert Stage

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, former Polish premier, will never again appear on the concert platform, nor is he likely to re-enter politics, according to the Veezy, Switzerland, correspondent of the Daily Mail. During an interview with M. Paderewski, the correspondent asked him if it were true he would accept the nomination as president of Poland.

"I don't think I shall be invited to become president," the great pianist replied. "I hope to devote the rest of my life to composing music. I am convinced an era of peace and prosperity for England is begun and feel my political mission is finished."

GENEVA, Feb. 26. (Havas).—Ignace Jan Paderewski, former Polish premier, who arrived recently in Switzerland, has gone to London for the purpose of laying before the supreme allied council, Polish views concerning peace negotiations with the Russian soviet government.

May Use Strikebreakers in Panama

PANAMA, Feb. 25.—Ranks of the striking colored maintenance of way employees of the Panama canal administration, were swelled to 15,000 today by sympathizers. The crisis is expected tomorrow, when Governor Harding's ultimatum, depriving strikers of their positions and privileges, will become effective. The authorities believe a break in the strike is imminent, but official announcement was made tonight that laborers would be imported to carry on canal operations if the men refused to return to their posts.

To Publish Adriatic Notes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Final decision to publish the exchanges between the American government and the entente premiers on the Adriatic question was reached today. Seven notes in all will be made public late today, at the state department. Officials estimated that the total text would run close to 12,000 words.

Postmen Resort to Snowshoes

HOULTON, Me., Feb. 26.—For the first time this year, postmen making their deliveries were obliged to resort to snowshoes to enable them to get around on account of the huge drifts caused by the storm and gale of yesterday. Roads outside of the town are impassable, being blocked in many places by drifts over 15 feet in height.

All trains on the Bangor and Aroostook road were reported being from three to five hours behind schedule time, due both to snow drifts and frozen switches.

$15,000 in Raison Whiskey Seized

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 26.—Two fifty gallon stills, 593 boxes of raisins, 19 cases of prunes, 23 barrels of mash and 10 gallons of raisin whiskey valued at between $10,000 and $15,000, were seized by police in a raid on a private dwelling this morning. One man was arrested and turned over to federal authorities.

NOTED EXPLORER DEAD

PARIS, Feb. 26. (Havas).—Announcement is made of the death of Marcel Auguste Dienel, a widely known explorer and archaeologist. He was born in Toulouse in 1844 and became famous by uncovering the Palace of Darius and Artaxerxes in Persia in 1856.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to cure it, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You're probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Fires Women With Her Enthusiasm After Half Century Suffrage Fight

BY RUTH E. FINLEY

N.E.A. Woman's Page Editor
CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—"I attended the first national woman suffrage convention held in Washington in 1850. I had to come to the last one, and I would have come if they had had to bring me in a wheel chair!"
And she would have, too!
Dr. Olympia Brown of Baltimore, 53 years old, ordained Universalist minister since 1865, and yet preaching upon frequent occasions, does not make statements she does not mean. If her advanced age had made a wheel chair necessary still would she have traveled the 1000 miles she did to attend the 51st and last annual convention of the National Woman Suffrage association. She is said to have been the only woman present who attended the 1850 convention.

Glorious Victory

"It has been a glorious fight," she cried in her speech before one of the packed meetings, "but, oh, women of America, you in your youth and strength can make it an even more glorious victory!"

And she brought them up standing, 2000 strong, those women delegates from every state in the Union representing the women of America. For little, and old, and wrinkled as she is, her big eyes beneath her soft white hair still shine with the enthusiasm of a great purpose and her voice rings with the conviction of a just cause.

The Washington convention in 1850 was not the first "woman's rights" gathering attended by Dr. Brown. As early as 1848 women met to discuss their "rights" and again in 1861. But it was not until 1855 that Dr. Brown became publicly identified with suffrage.

Quality Not Quantity

"We met in 1855 in Dr. Cheever's church in Boston," she said. "We were hardly a handful of people, and I suppose we were about all the suffragists in the world at the time. But it was a notable company. Among us were Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Pauline Wright Davis, gorgeous in her purple velvet gown—she was the first woman to lecture on physiology—Fanny Gage, Henry Ward Beecher, Theodore Tilton and just a few more."

From that day to this Dr. Brown has been an ardent suffrage worker. She has made literally thousands of speeches for the cause, and in every section of the land. Holding pastorates in both the east and the west Dr. Brown had unusual opportunities for voicing her conviction. Her first church was at Weymouth, Mass.; her last at Mukwonago, Wis.

Convinced Officers

The story of her part in the long fight is rich in incidents of the times. "I was visiting a friend in Cleveland, O., in 1861," she said, "where a little body of women were circulating a petition concerning certain laws. It was to be sent to the state legislature, and the women wanted as many names as possible. They had made a thorough house-to-house canvass, but it was not considered proper for women to even enter business offices, and my friends were a little jealous of their social standing. So I volunteered. I went into every office and place of business in the town. Cleveland was not as big then as it is now, and I secured a long list of signatures.

BROWN

Length of Aisle

"I remember that on the sheets of paper, we used just 89 names could be signed, and when each was filled I passed it onto the preceding one. I was so successful—men couldn't quite kick a woman out of an office even then—that I was asked to make a little canvass of Columbus. I did, and when the women of Ohio presented the petition to their legislature it was so long that when opened on the floor of the house it rolled all over the place and clear down one aisle, like a strip of carpet. The women did not get all the things they asked for, but they were granted many concessions in the way of property rights and the guardianship of children. Since then Ohio has gone far in her legislative reforms, but I am proud to have worked with Ohio women for the earlier of them."

No Wool Pulling

Dr. Brown advocates one moral standard, and believes that it will be established by the new woman vote. Also she believes in independent thinking.

"When Admiral Sims was sent to England during the great war, he says he was told at Washington: 'Don't let the English pull the wool over your eyes.' My message to the new women voters of America is—Don't let either the republican or democratic party pull the wool over your eyes!"

Dr. Brown is neither a republican nor a democrat. Like Mr. Hoover, the party's platform must suit her before she makes up her mind.

CIGARMAKERS' OWN CO-OPERATIVE PLANT

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Smokes—4000 of them a day—are made here in what is said to be the only co-operative cigar factory in America. Three hundred cigarmakers are owners of the factory.

"We are now supplying our brands to 300 stores," said J. Mahlon Barnes, factory and there are 10 workers employed. This number is being increased at the rate of one each week.

Result of Strike

Barnes has been a delegate to the American Federation of Labor for many years and is a codelegate with Samuel Gompers, both being cigarmakers' union members.

"The factory was started as the result of the cigarmakers' strike here last July," said Barnes. "Each member of the union bought from two to five shares of stock at $10 a share. We bought a little equipment and rented a factory room."

Plan Own Factory

The company is incorporated for $50,000 and one-half of this capital is paid in. There now is a move to increase the capitalization to $100,000 in order that the company may buy its own factory building.

The Chicago, Co-operative Cigarmakers, Inc., now plans to build a factory in St. Louis, and there is talk of another factory in Boston.

RAPS RULE IN IRELAND

British Labor Party Denounces Conditions and Blames Government

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The bill for Irish home rule, long promised by the government, was presented in the house of commons yesterday. The first reading was of the title alone, and was a mere formality, preliminary to taking up the measure at the session today. The present bill, it is understood, adheres comparatively close to the measure as outlined by Premier Lloyd George. The government's project centers on George in the house on Dec. 22, last, the setting up of two parliaments in Ireland, one for the south and one for the north.

Home rule, as the government hopes to give it to Ireland, is based primarily upon the declaration of the premier in his December speech that "Great Britain cannot accept separation." But the largest opportunity will be given to the Irish people to unite on the constitution of a parliament. In the course of time, which will embrace Ireland as a whole.

For the north of Ireland, the area embraced will probably include the six counties mentioned by the premier in his original outline, with possibly some slight modifications, as a consequence of which the northern parliament will be a very much smaller body than the southern organization.

One of the fundamental features of the bill has always been a council representing the two parliaments, and it is understood that this council will derive its powers from the two bodies, which will be responsible for its selection. The proposed legislatures will have extensive powers and also representation in the imperial parliament. Such matters as education, local government, agriculture, transportation, municipal affairs, insurance, and the collection of taxes, will be under the control of these two legislatures, while matters of more serious import to the empire, such as foreign affairs, defense, navigation and the higher judiciary, are reserved for the decision of the imperial government.

Premier Lloyd George announced that the proceeds of land annuities in Ireland would be given as a free gift to the two parliaments, and estimates that this would amount to 3,000,000 pounds for the year. This sum or other equitable provision will be made for maintenance of the parliaments, if the government's bill is accepted.

The secretary of state for Ireland again introduced last session's education bill for Ireland at Tuesday night's session.

Labor Commission's Report

The report of the commission of labor men who recently investigated conditions in Ireland is a strong denunciation of what is characterized as the British misrule of Ireland. This report declares, "would drive any spirited nation into deep-seated and dangerous discontent," adding that "where the administration is not merely unintelligent it appears to be deliberately provocative."

The report sets forth that Ireland has become utterly estranged, and the Irish problem, as the labor delegation sees it, is a problem of political pathology.

Abundant evidence exists, the report finds, of the need of action with regard to social matters, such as housing, wages and education, but the political issue, it holds, obscures these questions.

"The economic regeneration of Ireland, which would help materially to destroy existing animosities and speedily efface the memory of historic wrongs," the report adds, "cannot be successfully achieved unless and until the political problem is solved. The fundamental necessity, therefore, is a change in the political system."

The report consists largely of detailed examples of the "senseless attitude" of the administration's representative measures with the result that "every institution, of which the British citizen is so proud—a free press, freedom of speech, liberty of a subject and trial by jury—is a thing of the past in a large part of Ireland."

The report continues:

"While unreservedly condemning political outrages, such as the shooting of policemen, we are bound to say that no evidence is forthcoming that such shootings preceded the application of the policy of vigorous repression."

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT FORUM MEETING

The forum idea may have taken root in other places in the country but it is in its infancy in Lowell, as shown last evening when an audience numbering seven people gathered at the Community club to hear Professor David D. Vaughn of Boston University speak on "American Ideals." Before the lecture was concluded the audience had grown to 14, five of whom were women.

The meeting was the second in the community forum series under the auspices of Lowell Community Service Inc., and while the weather was against a large attendance, it is fair to say that a thorough program of education will be necessary if widespread and general interest in the forum idea is to be created. The handful of men and women present, however, did not deter Professor Vaughn, who entered into a hearty discussion of his subject and brought out many things well worth hearing. He was presented by Otto Hockmeyer, chairman of the executive committee. Professor Vaughn spoke on six American ideals, which he considers of paramount importance to the life of a good citizen, to wit: The ideals of truth, justice, freedom, equality, fraternity and service.

The speaker pleaded for open and receptive minds and the public forum where both sides of every question may be heard. The ideal of truth has come down to us from the Pilgrims, who are characterized by Carlisle as "the greatest boatload of democracy ever to sail the seas."

The ideal of freedom is fettered, Professor Vaughn said, inasmuch as we are slaves to many things such as disease, poverty and custom. We have freedom in a great many things, he said and the word "liberty" is before us every day on each of our coins, but there are some ideals of freedom we do not have. "We thought it a terrible thing that 68,000 of our young men should be left dead on the fields of France, but what about the 200,000 persons who died from the disease of tuberculosis in this country during the same months? Add these lost lives might have been saved."

"Many of us in the world are slaves to custom. Even today in the smaller towns and cities of China, the feet of babies are being bound and deformed because of custom. We are slaves to poverty. Without money our freedom is curtailed. It may be shown in a family that wants to give its children education but cannot. It may crop out in the life of a young man graduating from high school at the head of his class, with his eyes set on a college course, but mother and sisters must be supported and he turns to the life of a drudge."

The speaker brought in the equal suffrage question in his discussion of the ideal of justice and said that he welcomed the fact that women were coming to the aid of men in making the nation's laws. He quoted "Where did the men of America learn so much about civil government? From the women school teachers." "If women are smart enough to teach men, they are capable of helping us make our laws," said the speaker.

The hearty greeting Roosevelt gave his fellow men was cited by Professor Vaughn as an example of the ideal of equality. "It is necessary that men be recognized as men no matter what their station in life may be," he said. "I recall a story which appeared in the Chicago Tribune about the death of a man known as the Merchant Prince. Any man can get that name who gives a newspaper hundreds of dollars every month for many years for advertising contracts. The fact that he paid his shop girls $2.50 and $3.50 a week was forgotten. His will was most despicable for it was so worded as to allow his huge fortune to fall to his grandchild at the age of 50 years, who at that time would get $100,000,000 without doing one single act of service to merit it."

"The fifth great American ideal is that of fraternity," Mr. Vaughn said. "Just as much as man needs social relationship, so a nation needs relations with other nations in the form of an internationalism."

The sixth and last ideal discussed was the ideal of service—what man accomplishes for his fellow men. The speaker said a new idea is creeping into business, the idea of service to the merchant, rather than the concern selling the goods. "We measure people by the service they perform," he said. "I might bring a European lord into this room and tell you he is a member of nobility and you would show but little interest. Even if I should add that he had millions of dollars you would not bat an eye, but instead, nine out of every 10 Americans would ask, 'what did he do?'"

"But, supposing I should bring Thomas Edison here. You would rise to salute him, for he is a man of service. The world can never repay Edison in dollars and cents for his service to mankind. You can't give him suits of clothes because he won't wear them and you might give him 1000 beds and he wouldn't use them, because he works practically all night. The only reason this community center has been started here in Lowell is for service, service to the city and all its people."

WIN FIGHT FOR $3,000,000 ESTATE

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Nine persons after a long search and an ensuing legal controversy, it was announced today, had established their rights as heirs to share in the $3,000,000 estate of William P. Cowan, former president of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, who died intestate at his country home at Wheaton, Ill., in 1918. They will receive approximately $200,000 each. The youngest heir is 44, and the oldest 60, and all live in Michigan except Henry B. Stillwell, aged 72, of Springfield, Mass. The heirs all are cousins.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 25.—Hungary's peace delegation at Neuilly, France, has asked that Hungarian prisoners of war in Siberia be repatriated, and have asked the United States and Japan for a loan to carry on the work. Despatches from the delegates received here say they are virtually imprisoned in the Chateau Madrid at Neuilly, being allowed to go about the town only when accompanied by a detective.

GREAT SPORT

Amateurs Shoot Wireless Messages All Over Country

Wireless messages these days are buzzing away over Lowell just as fast as amateurs and professionals are capable of deciphering them. The restrictions which were put on during the war by the government, now removed, prevented any extensive developments along this line in Lowell, but now that all bans have been lifted a corps of young men of this city have organized under the name of the Lowell Radio club, mention of which has already been made. In these columns. There are other amateurs who have not joined any club and who have perfected apparatus that will send to great distances and receive from even more distant points. Besides the large sets, many small indoor plants, that are effective for short distances, have been installed throughout the city, some of them known only to particular friends.

The Lowell young men interested in the game of wireless have pleasing entertainment in listening-in on the conversation of the air. They have become members of the American Radio Relay league, an association of amateurs which makes it possible for them to deliver messages, free of charge, in all parts of the United States. Hundreds of messages are handled. These young masters of the air seem to entangle all kinds of information in their aerials. Word that "Father is coming," that "Brother is eloped," and any other messages are relayed through the amateurs to their proper addressees, anywhere in the country.

The most powerful stations of the city have deciphered messages from Nauen, Germany, one of the largest in the world; from France; from St. Petersburg, Norway, and from other far distant government installations. When President Wilson was returning from the peace conference about one year ago, Arthur Davis of Holden street, tuned his instrument to catch the president's messages as his boat was leaving Brest, France, and followed his talk from the vessel throughout the voyage, knowing just when the president arrived in American waters.

A few of those who have intercepted flashes from Germany are Sterling Pratt, colonel of the high school regiment; Bradford Dunn of 373 Parker street; John McMaster of 15 Fairfield street; Ralph Scott of 255 Foster street, vice president of the Radio club; and Everett Taylor of 166 Winthrop ave., president of the Radio club.

The calls at various times but the boys are bound by law to keep all such information secret. Government rules regulate what is permissible to divulge to the public.

There are 34 members in the Lowell Radio club, all licensed by the government to send and receive. The ages of the men average around 23 or 24, but the extremes are 14 and 36. The quarters of this wireless association are in the Dartmouth building on Merrimack street, and they will soon be fitted out with comfortable furniture and also with a large wireless set. Part of this station is already installed, but finishing touches have yet to be given before it is ready for action.

An effort is being made by the radio boys to round up all the fellows in the city who are interested in wireless and to enlist them in their organization. If such young men wish to have their stations on a wireless map which the club is now making they should connect with the officers in charge of the work. Their map already shows the situation of 26 powerful stations in this city.

In the opinion of American officials in Italy, more Italians will emigrate to the United States this year than in the record year of 1913, when 375,000 left that country for America.

EAT

What You Will—When You Will—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Help Digest the Meal

Good food in itself is harmless. The usual reason stomach troubles arise is due to faulty digestion brought about by overwork, sickness, overeating, late hours, etc. The best way to correct faulty stomach troubles is to do what nature wants. All that nature usually needs in such cases is a little assistance to do this work. This is why doctors tell you to diet. Nature is then compelled to aid herself. You do not then overwork her when she is already exhausted. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into your stomach just like food. They help digest food, and thus, when the next meal is eaten, the system is better prepared to do its work without assistance.

By following this practice many have corrected their stomach troubles, and have conquered the old "burden" of indigestion. Always take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals or just before bed time. By doing this you will be acting wisely and playing safe. Go to your druggist anywhere and buy a box now. Price 50 cents.—Ad.

CONG. ROGERS' BILL
It Would Regulate Citizenship Where Americans Marry Aliens
(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—Representative John Jacob Rogers yesterday introduced a bill providing that after the ratification of the suffrage amendment no woman who is an American citizen shall lose her citizenship by marrying an alien and that no alien woman shall acquire American citizenship by marrying an American man. It is understood that this measure will have the cordial support of the great women's organizations of the United States. Discussing his proposal, Mr. Rogers said today:

"One relic of the dark ages in our federal laws is the provision that an American woman, whether she likes it or not, must lose her American citizenship if she marries a foreigner. Similarly, and with equally little justification, an alien woman acquires American citizenship by the mere fact of marrying an American. Of course these provisions are in our law for historical reasons. They date from the 'good old days' when a woman was a chattel and not a human being and had no rights or privileges before the law. But times have changed. The adoption of the suffrage amendment, which needs only four more states to become effective, removes the last trace of political and civil distinction between the sexes. If a woman is good enough to vote under the Constitution of the United States she is good enough to stand on her own legs in the matter of citizenship. If an American woman chooses to marry an alien there is no more reason why she should automatically take his citizenship than there is why he should take hers. On the other hand if an American woman chooses to marry an alien there is no more reason why she should automatically take his citizenship than there is why he should take hers. On the other hand if an American man chooses to marry an illiterate alien woman there is no propriety whatever in giving her immediate American citizenship, when that citizenship will hereafter carry with it the right to vote. Let her be naturalized in due course, but forbid her stepping instantly onto the full rights of our citizenship just because she happens to wear a wedding ring. The citizenship theory now in our laws is one of the last traces of medieval days. It is as archaic as ordeal by fire. Now is a good time to weed it out."

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and you are troubled with the symptoms of howls you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist a ounce of Eucalypti (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.—Ad.

MORE FIREMEN FOR DOUBLE PLATOON

Ten new firemen will be needed for the continued operation of the double platoon system unless the municipal council votes to appropriate money for three pieces of motor apparatus as asked for by Commissioner John F. Salton, head of the fire department. The commissioner says that he must have either the men or the apparatus but will take no definite step in the matter until the departmental appropriations for the year are decided.

HEADS NEW CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DEPT.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Chauncey D. S. chamber of commerce. He went to Paris about a year ago to investigate markets in France for American goods.

Clean Up Poison Soaked Kidneys Advises Dr. Carey

Thousands Die Every Year Because They Allow Poisonous Debris To Accumulate in Kidneys

Don't flush your kidneys with harsh medicines, says Dr. Carey, they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them rough. For 40 years I have been prescribing Marshall for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price right away. Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. If you have sickness floating before the eyes, puffing under eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshall right away. It has conquered thousands of cases of kidney and bladder diseases and is the medicine you can always depend upon. IMPORTANT—Dr. Daniel G. Carey has been a practicing physician for many years and his great prescription, "Marshall," has cured thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. It is not a patent medicine and is only sold through drug stores in order to accommodate his patients. Fred Howard can supply you.—Adv.

HELD "FATHER AND SON" BANQUETS

"Father and Son" banquets were held last evening at the Elliot-Union and Calvary Baptist churches, after which the boys and their fathers went to the East Merrimack street tabernacle for the service conducted by Evangelist George T. Stephens.

About 40 were present at the Elliot church, where mothers of the boys served a substantial supper. The general arrangements were in charge of Edwin T. Shaw and Thomas R. Williams of the Y.M.C.A., who developed the father and son idea in Lowell. Donald Fletcher was toastmaster and there were 10-minute talks by Raymond Dahlgren, representing the sons; A. K. Whitcomb, representing the fathers; and by James Sykes, who spoke on the relationship of fathers and sons within the church.

The attendance at the Calvary Baptist church numbered 30. An excellent supper was served by women of the church and prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. Asa R. Dittis. Following post-prandial exercises, the party went to the tabernacle in a special car.

During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1921, Japan, it is said, will spend more than $200,000,000 on naval and military expansion.

THREE LOWELL DOGS RIBBON WINNERS

The Boston dog show, this week, was one of the most successful affairs of its kind for several years. The attendance was far above that at any other show, both the daily and nightly exhibitions and displays drawing a large quota of Massachusetts men interested in full-bred dogs.

Three Lowell dogs came back with ribbons of prize recognition. A Boston terrier owned by Samuel Jacques of Gorham street and a Beagle hound owned by Mr. Moses Pickles of 103 High street won rewards. Dr. Donahue, a resident of Tewksbury, carried home two firsts and a second which were won by his Boston terrier in competition with terriers from all parts of the state.

LOWELL GIRL GREET'S GENERAL PERSHING

Among the Lowell people who journeyed to Boston yesterday to greet General Pershing, A.E.F., commander-in-chief, was Miss Nellie Snow, chief operator of the Lowell telephone exchange and for many months an overseas service woman. With Miss Helen Seelye of the Boston toll exchange, she approached the general.

"Just where was it I saw you last?" Gen. Pershing queried smiling. "Why, I was your chief operator at Chaumont," replied Miss Snow. Heartily greetings and a few reminiscent moments followed and the two young women moved on to make room for others who wished to grip the general's hand.

NANKING UNIVERSITY FUND
All students of Boston University, alumni, present attendants, or prospective students, who have contributed to the Nanking University fund, will be interested to know that the quota of $5000 lacks only $400 of fulfillment today. Those who have not learned of this campaign should know that the trustees of the university are planning to establish a section of Boston university in Nanking, China, to offer to the Chinese the same opportunities in business education that are extended in their courses in administration in this country. Accordingly they enlisted the aid of the students in raising a sum of $5000 to be added to their own appropriation.

Petrograd, Russia, is now estimated to have a civil population of 400,000. Its population before the war was more than 1,250,000.

The United States has only one doctor to every 700 persons. Furthermore, the number of doctors seems to be decreasing in proportion to the population, which is increasing by some 2,000,000 a year.

Oriental folk are very superstitious about an elephant's sneeze, and believe that to hear one brings good luck. In Siberia a winter rainbow sometimes lasts all day. It is caused by fine particles of snow suspended in the air.

Gertrude Lamarre, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anselme Lamarre, 20 Main street, Sanford, Me., was saved from fits by the prompt action of her mother who administered Dr. Tru's Elixir.

Mrs. Lamarre wrote the following to Dr. J. F. True & Co.: "My daughter, Gertrude, had dizzy spells and could not even go out for she always complained of being sick. She used your Elixir (Dr. Tru's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller). She never had any fits since. I feel very grateful to you."

Symptoms of worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and fully belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth. Little red worms sticking out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. Tru's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family laxative and worm expeller, since 1851—over 63 years' reputation. Everyone can improve their health by simply looking after the bowels—a pure herb, laxative which Dr. Tru's Elixir is, will promptly relieve all worry and discomfort. AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

WEDDING BELLS

For Good Cook and Prize Nurse in Old Age

(By LORRY A. JACOBS)
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—"The quickest route to a woman's heart is by way of pleasing her stomach."

That's the way Brooklyn's latest Lothario, Theodore Neuberger, 73, reversed the old adage and won his latest love, Mrs. Margaretha Engelhardt, 70, who is now Mrs. Theodore Neuberger.

Made a Record
All of Neuberger's 73 years didn't prevent him from conducting a lightning matrimonial adventure. Here is his schedule:

January, 1919—First wife, Mrs. Rosa Neuberger, died.
Jan. 15, 1920—Advertised in newspaper as follows: "Wanted, by man of 73, with some means, wife of age near his, who will keep house for him. Will cook, if necessary. Answer."
Jan. 20—Received letter and photograph from Mrs. Margaretha Engelhardt of Jersey City.
Jan. 20—Answered, accepting her.

Wedding Bells
Jan. 25—Received answer from her telling me to come and get her. He did and they were married.

Jan. 26—Stricken with influenza.
Jan. 30—Recovered by reason of wife's skill at nursing.

"She thought she would just be friends with me," Neuberger explains. "But now she loves me because I'm a good cook and I love her because she is such a good nurse."

Fatigue Is Great Beauty Destroyer

Thin-blooded people experience a form of fatigue which robs them of strength to get about and deprives them of restful sleep. This fatigue is not to be confused with the healthy reaction which follows a day of work and is relieved by sound slumber.

The fatigue which accompanies an anemic or thin-blooded condition robs women of beauty for it causes their color to fade and leaves the face haggard and drawn. In addition to the feeling of exhaustion there is generally nervousness, headache, stomach trouble and dizziness.

These symptoms indicate the need of the tonic that Mrs. Eva M. Carter, of No. 100 Fayette street, East Lynn, Mass., tried and recommends so highly. Mrs. Carter showed no signs of illness when seen at her home and she said a great change for the better had been brought about in her appearance.

"I was just worn out," explained Mrs. Carter. "It seemed as though I would never be able to get enough sleep or rest to give me back my strength. I had grown very nervous and suffered at times from smothering spells which increased by nervousness and worried me. My appetite was poor and I suffered from indigestion."

"Through a friend, who had used them with benefit, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had taken less than two boxes of these pills when I felt so much better that I continued the treatment until I had entirely recovered my health. I no longer feel tired in the morning, a night's sleep refreshes me, my appetite is excellent and I do not worry. The smothering sensation about my heart has also disappeared. I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on hand and have recommended them to several people."

Debility is not a disease of any one organ. It is a general condition of unfitness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly generalized throughout the entire system.

In fact, it must be corrected by building up the blood which, being rich and red, carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood and have transformed thousands of sick, grouchy, irritable, tired and nervous people into active, energetic, capable, efficient men and women. They will help you too.

Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet "Building Up the Blood." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

OPERA HOUSE

Gene Shakespeare as "Hil Holler," the chief fun maker in the delightful rural drama, "Way Down East," which is being so capably produced this week at the Opera House by the popular Lowell Players, is most amusing. His song number, "All Bound Round With a Wooden String," is cleverly given and his general interpretation of the story on the farm is most commendable. Miss Fields is seen in a highly emotional role, that of the outcast, while Homer L. Aubrey as the farmer's son and Jerome Kennedy as the squire and Miss Petrella Knowles as the squire's wife, are all creditable. You will like the production and will benefit by seeing it and learning the message it delivers. Next week "Jim's Girl."

THE STRAND

Nazimova, the phenomenal Russian artist of the stage and screen, appearing in her latest and considered by some her most successful dramatic film offering, "Stronger Than Death," will be shown at The Strand for the last three days of the week, commencing with matinee today. It is a story adapted by Charles Bryant from the great novel of Anglo-Indian life by L. A. R. Wylie and is said to contain more stirring dramatic material than any other picture story ever screened. The star is wonderfully interesting in her characterization and treatment of the principal role. Don't miss a real treat.

The misadventure of a soldier of fortune, that describes Will Rogers' latest Goldwyn photoplay, "Jubilo," on the Saturday Evening Post story by Ben Ames Williams, and directed by Clarence Badger. See Will as the lovable wanderer from Vagabondia, who tumbles into the land of romance and adventure via a big train hold-up. His venture via a big train hold-up, his drama of human lives; it's one of the most delightfully entertaining pictures you've seen in a long time. The star is presented in characterizations that brings to the surface all of his exceptional ability as a comedian of the rare type. Then there is the newest comedy and a Universal Weekly that has many interesting picture story features. You can't afford to miss this bill.

R. F. KEITH THEATRE

Three of the seven acts at the R. F. Keith theatre, this week, would make good on any amateur's idea of what a true headline quality, although each one differs as to its material from the others. Hugh Herbert in "The Own Business," has a decidedly clever character sketch, he playing the leading roles. There is comedy enough, but it is not overdone. Bill Bailey and Lynn Cowan, with Estelle Davis, have a novel musical skit called "The Little Production in One," and Alice Hamilton is a constant delight as the little old lady who views present life through the spectacles of years ago. Other acts on the bill are: Burke, Walsh and Nana in a medley of fun; Cycling Brunettes; Lowell boys; Johnsen, contortionist, and Courtney & Irwin in a skit with music.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Come on, Remorse!" How well one remembers the racing play which held the stage for so many years, playing the country from end to end and over again and making millions for its owners. Remorse wins the rich stakes in the play and in the big mammoth production of the classic which has been prepared for the screen, and all the familiar characters again come to life. "Checkers" is being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre today and although other cities have paid $1 prices to witness the production, there will be no change in local prices. J. Warren Kirkham in "Live Sparks," a story of Texas in the other feature for the latter half of the week.

MILL EMPLOYEES INJURED

As a result of a fall in the boiler room of the Massachusetts mills last night James Busch, an employee of the plant, was taken to St. John's hospital, where he is now being kept under observation for internal injuries.

Out of Trouble

Down the ostrich's throat slid Nancy and Nick, right into his stomach.

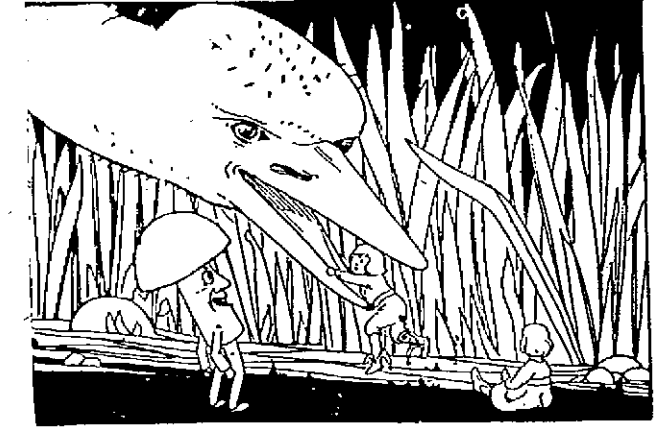

It was quite dark at first, but soon their eyes got accustomed to the dimness and they could see very well. It was like going into a moving picture theatre from the bright sunlight outside. Another thing, it was quite crowded. They had supposed when the ostrich said he was hungry, that there the old fellow got you, too! Looks like moving day down here, doesn't it?"

"We came to find you!" explained Nancy.

"You beloved children!" cried the mushroom. "Now I will have to get my things together to get us all out of this. I'm not a fairy for nothing. I wish I had a wand, though, then it would be easy. Let me think just a minute."

Suddenly the mushroom had an idea. "I have it!" he cried. "After a while Quick as a wink, down slid Nick and Nancy and their fairy friend, right out of Mr. Ostrich's mouth.

would be plenty of room down there, but it was quite the other way.

There was a cornucopia pipe, a bunch of keys, some stones, the heel of an old shoe, some tennipenny nails, a bottle and a tooth-brush the old fellow had eaten.

Also, as they discovered later, a pocket flashlight that he had swallowed. That was why they could see so well.

Last but not least was their beloved Magdal Mushroom, who called out when he saw them: "Why, hello, there! So again and he'll bury his head in the sand. We'll watch our chance and slide down his throat to the ground. Come over here and be ready."

Just then, down went the ostrich's head as the mushroom had said. And quick as a wink, down slid Nick and Nancy and their fairy friend, and hopped right out of Mr. Ostrich's mouth into the sunlight.

BRITISH-CANADIAN WAR VETS

An interesting meeting of the members of the British-Canadian War Veterans was held Tuesday night with President J. Hoban in the chair. Routine business was transacted and the following committee was appointed to make arrangements for a smoke talk and entertainment to be held at the next meeting: Bro. Percival, Brother Westley and Bro. Fairbairn. The following were appointed delegates to visit the Lawrence club in regard to a charter: Bro. Hoban and Bro. Percival.

VOTE TO PURCHASE BONDS

A special meeting of the Police Relief association was held yesterday afternoon to take action on the Irish republic bond drive and after some discussion it was voted to invest $500 in the purchase of bonds. The sum of $100 was also voted for the same purpose by the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers and a meeting held last evening.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets around the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 10c and 25c.

THIN PEOPLE NEED BITRO-PHOSPHATE

Increases Weight, Strength and Nerve Force in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances

Take plain bitro-phosphate is the advice of these physicians to thin, delicate, nervous people who lack vim, energy and nerve force, and there seems to be ample proof of the efficacy of this preparation to warrant the recommendation. Moreover, if we judge from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness.

Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by A. W. Igges and most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the body directly and by supplying the nerves

Georgia Hamilton, the wonderful "sassy" girl, who was once thin and frail, says: "Bitro-Phosphate brought about the magic transformation of my body and now I am a healthy, happy girl."

cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing. Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes ought to brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health. Physicians and hospitals everywhere are now recognizing its merits by its use in ever increasing quantities. Frederick Kelle, M.D., editor of New York Physician, "Who's Who" Pharmacy, "Bitro-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital to increase strength and nerve force and to enrich the blood." Joseph D. Harrigan, Former Visiting Specialist to North Eastern Dispensary, says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, or run-down, take a natural, unadulterated substance such as bitro-phosphate and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance."

Bitro-Phosphate is made entirely of the organic phosphate compound referred to in the National Standard Dispensary as being a preparation which has recently acquired considerable reputation in the treatment of neurasthenia. The standard of excellence, strength and purity of its substance is beyond question, for every Bitro-Phosphate tablet is manufactured in strict accordance with the U. S. Pharmacopoeia test requirements. Bitro-Phosphate is therefore not a patent medicine and should not be confused with any of the secret nostrums, so-called tonics or widely advertised "cure-alls."

CAUTION—"While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Adv.

Bright's Disease May Be Conquered By Use of Agmel

New York—Physicians who have tested the sap of the Mexican maguay plant in the treatment of diseases of the kidneys believe that an important discovery has been made. Writing in La Escuela de Medicina, the leading Mexican medical journal, the editor says: "It is perhaps the only substance known up to the present time, in the whole world, having the power to radically and permanently overcome Bright's Disease." Reports of definite results in a large number of chronic and long standing cases of kidney trouble have created a persistent demand for this sap, which is popularly known under the name of Agmel. And considerable quantities are being imported into the United States. The Agmel Sales Co., 8131 Union Square, New York City, will mail to those interested a free descriptive booklet; or upon receipt of $3.00 a full sized bottle of AGMEL, containing 336 cubic centimeters of pure concentrated sap, will be sent to any address in U.S.A. or Canada, all charges prepaid.—Adv.

"A SECRET"

How to Preserve Youth and Beauty

Cupid has no place in a girl's heart if she is nervous and irritable, feels dragged down, worn out for no reason that she can think of. In such cases the body is not sound. The nervousness and other symptoms are telegraphed all over the body by the nerves, which is the telegraphic system of the human body, because the weak spot demands attention. The weak back, dizzy spells and black circles about the eyes are only symptoms. Go to the source of the trouble and correct the irregularity. Tone up the womanly system and the other symptoms disappear. This can be done easily and intelligently. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a medicine which has stood

The Test of Half a Century and numbers its testimonials by the thousands. It is a perfectly safe tonic in any condition of the system, being entirely vegetable. Here is what one out of many says:

Corning, N. Y.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best builder for a nervous and run-down system that I have ever taken. I had been in the hospital for an operation and it left me weak and nervous. I did not seem to be able to regain my health at all until I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription,' and it built me up in a good healthy, strong condition. My nervousness left me and my general health was much better after taking 'it.' MRS. JOSEPH OXLEY, 30 Elm St.

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a book, such for instance, as "Nursing in the Home," by Lee H. Smith, M.D., which can readily be procured by sending 50 cents in one-cent stamps for cloth-bound copy, addressing Medical Press, Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y.

When constipation is present with feminine disorders, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets (a purely vegetable laxative made up and extracted from May-apple, leaves of aloë, root of jalap) should be taken along with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. These were first made by Dr. Pierce about fifty years ago, and are sold by nearly every druggist.—Adv.

WAKEFIELD WILL SEND STRONG TEAM HERE

Wakefield high will send a track team of 16 men, led by Capt. Burke, one of the best long distance men in the greater-Boston district, to the Lowell annex Saturday night for the dual meet between the two schools. The list of Wakefield entries is at hand and shows Capt. Burke entered in the 30-yard dash, shot put, high jump, 1000-yard run and the mile. Levine, brother of the famous Abe Levine, well known to Lowell track followers, will also be a strong contender in the long runs.

Capt. Haggerty is having a hard job getting his men out for practice this week, which is a vacation period. Yesterday's practice was somewhat curtailed because of the absence of several men, but he will make an effort to get the entire team on the boards tomorrow.

Wakefield will take a lot of running to beat. The meet ought to be one of the most interesting of the year inasmuch as there will be no standing broad jump. The events to be staged follow: 30 yard dash, 300 yard run, 600 yard run, 1000 yard run, one mile, shot put, running high jump, 55 yard hurdles and 1200 yard relay. This program should produce sufficient competition to satisfy the most ardent fan and a big crowd of spectators is expected.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEAGUE PLAN

Something which Lowell needs very badly will be provided soon if the efforts of the Social Service League, of 81 Merrimack street are met with earnest co-operation throughout the city and pushed to a successful conclusion. Though there are innumerable social agencies in this city and many individual social workers, there is a chasm between any two of them in the lack of friendship or of actual acquaintance or even in the lack of knowledge of the work done by one another. The Social Service League has almost completed plans for the organization of a club of all individuals in the city, men and women, engaged in social research whether belonging to an agency or working independently.

The aim of such a proposition is not to be judged as meaning that such organizations in the city will work more harmoniously together, for there has not been the least bit of friction in the past, but that it will enable these people to become acquainted, to become friends and afford them the opportunity of blending their efforts in co-operative consultation. The club as planned for now, would hold monthly meetings.

Motorcyclist Fined

Jenkins said that he and his brother Fred were motorcycling toward Lowell one evening during the early part of the winter, and while on the Lawrence boulevard near Kenwood the machine broke down. He and his brother alighted and were attempting to locate the trouble when Grondine's motorcycle came along at a fast clip and struck Fred, breaking his leg. Then the side car "pleked him up," he said, and carried him along.

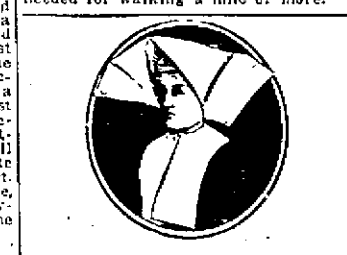

He forced Grondine to turn his machine around, he said, and after arranging to have his injured brother removed to the hospital, rode to the police headquarters with Grondine.

During the case it was brought out that Grondine had had several glasses of something stronger than 2.75 per cent. before starting on his trip to the down river city.

William A. Guerin, the Lowell youth arrested recently on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of Joseph M. Mello last summer, had his case placed on file after Deputy Downey informed the court that the young man from the United States navy, and a warrant for his return to the naval authorities at Hingham had been received. Guerin was then placed in the custody of the arresting officers who will return him to the naval officials.

Charged with assault with a knife on Henry F. Douglas Feb. 23, Clifford G. Paine pleaded not guilty and was granted a continuance until tomorrow. Bail was set at $300.

TAKE YOUR CHILDREN TO MACARTNEY'S BARBER SHOP—LET "ARTHUR" CUT THEIR HAIR

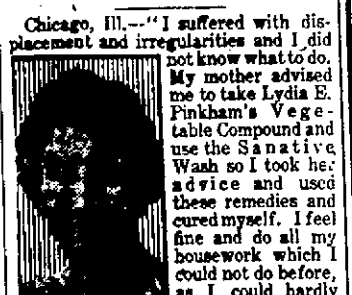

MACARTNEY'S

72 MERRIMACK STREET

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinaki.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."—Mrs. A. KWARCINAKI, 3627 W. Oakdal Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life. The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

ON DEAR OLD BROADWAY

Griffith, Barrymore, Neilan, Drew and Rachel Keep Things Going

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—While New York cities were sleeping, D. W. Griffith, at Mount Vernon, about 12 miles from New York, was trying out his latest production, "Fires of Love," on an unsuspecting audience. It brings Clarence Seymour, of "Cutie Beaulieu" fame, back to the screen. "Fires of Love" is a story of the South Sea Islands and tells a romantic and dramatic story of a human derelict in the person of a beachcomber, a youth from civilization, and a white girl born on the islands and refusing to abide by the doctrines of Christianity. We proclaim "Fires of Love" as one of the greatest achievements of Griffith's career.

Lionel Barrymore became a martyr in more ways than one this week. At the Rivoli, his screen version of "The Copperhead," a plan of the Civil war and Abraham Lincoln, he was made to suffer that the nation might live. But that was only on the screen. About 26 hours after Lionel was made a screen martyr, some naughty thief swiped his stock of liquor valued at $10,000 in this day of h. c. of drinking. When Lionel went into the cellar, he threw back his hands and borrowed a phrase from Sis Ethel: "That's all there is—there isn't any more!"

The eyes of moviedom are watching Marshall Neilan, producer of "Daddy Long Legs," whose first independent picture, "The River's End," is rapidly nearing completion. Such stars as Marjorie Daw, Lewis Stone and Jane Novak are playing the important roles and a delicate care representing six months of production expense will characterize the offering. Neilan is the youngest producer in the history of the film game.

After abstaining for two years, John Drew came back to Broadway and to the stage in a play by Rupert Hughes, and entitled "The Cat Bird." John was the cat bird—in other words an old professor. It should be a good lesson to Rupert Hughes, this cat bird of his. Why Rupert didn't know that professors aren't funny, and that their jokes are laughed at only because pupils are kidding them, is beyond conception.

A new play in which Rachel Crothers, the authoress, starred herself, entitled, "He and She," opened this week at the Little Theatre. As usual, poor papa and mama were involved in a lot of unhappiness on account of $100,000.

At the right time, little darter, played by Fairo Binney, sister of Constance, tears home from boarding school to inform the folks who has fallen in love with a taxi driver. Mom and pop are shocked. Why? We can't understand. If the fellow was a New York taxi driver he could shower on his wife the wealth of a princess and then some.

"Thou Shalt Not Spend More Than Thou Earnst." Sounds like a commandment, and it is. "The Thirtieth Commandment," in which Ethel Clayton appeared all week at the Rialto.

TOWNBLOUSE REJOICES IN "HAREM" HEM

By CORA MOORE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Fashion refused to let the blouse go the way of most fashions—into oblivion—so it has made an entirely new place for itself. Instead of being an inconspicuous, nondescript sort of garment, it now makes all sorts of pretensions to conventionality, especially through

SAYS HIS PRESCRIPTION HAS POWERFUL INFLUENCE OVER RHEUMATISM

Discoverer Tells Through Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless Allergic Completely Banished All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that to one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system. He freely gave his discovery to others who, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. A. W. Dows & Co. have been appointed agent for all the United States with the understanding that they will freely return the purchase money to all who state they received no benefit.—Adv.

UNCLE SAM, M.D.

Some Advice as to the Protection of Employees

Communicable diseases can often be detected by the industrial physician at the time the worker applies for employment, and their introduction into the plants prevented. Measures looking to the correction of such defects as flat feet, impaired vision and hearing, decayed teeth and others of a similar nature, can be instituted at the time of making the physical examination, so that the worker is able to approach his task in the best possible physical condition. Without the physical examination to discover the defects of the applicant, useful members of the industrial community are oftentimes denied employment.

One of the big problems the "human engineer" can help solve is that of placing the handicapped worker, where his services can be of most value to himself and to industry. By so doing the economic independence of the worker is assured, his mental attitude is directed into right channels, and he becomes a community asset rather than a liability. By placing the worker to the best advantage, the work of the employment department is lightened by reducing turnover, a thing always costly and one to be avoided. The worker has also been made to feel that some one has his interests at heart in thus placing him in his work.

The "human engineer's" contact with the safety department usually begins when an accident case is brought to the dispensary for treatment. In addition to caring for the injury he makes an investigation as to how the accident occurred and, in cooperation with the safety engineer, determines ways and means of preventing the occurrence of similar cases. He may find that the employee's work is fatiguing because of faulty posture, poor ventilation or bad lighting, which may be insufficient lighting or too brilliant lighting with the production of glare, or because of other conditions susceptible of correction. These matters are all within the scope of the safety department.

the Townblouses, which have many alluring features that never were vouchsafed the original "separate waist."

Just by way of example, here, illustrated, is Elsie Janis in a Townblouse of cartridge silk, the finished army silk, which is causing much commotion among designers. The blouse is flesh color with collar and tight band cuffs of a deeper tone, and the particular feature is that the blouse has a "harem" hem. It turns under precisely in the manner of the Turkish skirts and then, in addition, has little let-in pockets lost in the folds at either side just below the French belt.

to correct, but that department is seldom equipped to discover all of them or to associate them with the cause of the accident. The "human engineer's" researches will lead him to consider occupational poisonings when the processes suggest such possibilities. The physical reconditioning of workers in hazardous occupations will result in the accumulation of scientific facts of known value with which to replace the oftentimes erroneous opinions now held regarding the dangers and hazards of certain occupations. In addition to caring for the accidents that occur, the "human engineer" should repair the temporary defects of the workers, which tend to reduce their effectiveness to a considerable extent. Many times workers report for duty with headaches, indigestion, beginning colds, and other seemingly trifling ailments, which can be relieved or eliminated by prompt application of therapeutic measures. By eliminating them a day's production can be added to the factory output and the worker will have the added satisfaction of knowing that his small needs are cared for in a sympathetic manner. He will also appreciate the fact that there is some one to whom he can go for consultation and advice regarding such minor ailments as may develop in the course of the day's work. The prompt attention to minor ailments will prevent infections, which always result in much lost time, lost wages and lowered production.

LOWELL AND SALEM HIGH SCHOOLS TO DEBATE U. S. INTERVENTION IN MEXICO

Salem high school has submitted questions to the debating team of the Lowell high school from which to choose the subjects for their inter-school debate in Salem on March 26. The subjects proposed include the Plumb plan for the management of railroad affairs and intervention in Mexico. After the discussion with their coaches the Lowell team finally decided that the question on Mexico offered the best possibilities.

The question is: "Resolved, that the United States should intervene in Mexico." Lowell will uphold the negative side. Already the Lowell team is hard at work in intensive study and reading about the history of the intervention.

The boys who shovel snow are reaping a great harvest, but they report that it is hard work.

The allies are not likely to drive the Turk from Europe. He will be allowed to remain, as in a former case, for strategic reasons. It was to guard England against Russian power that Turkey was allowed to hold Constantinople and keep the Black sea closed ever since the Crimean war.

The Canadian government has taken over the Grand Trunk railroad, thus making two government owned transcontinental lines. Now we may expect to see Canada boom. The emigration from the United States has already enlivened business along the border.

THE STORM

If, as the farmers tell us, the heavy snow fall is the poor man's fertilizer, Nature is certainly very generous to the poor men this winter. The people who have to keep the streets clear consider themselves victims of some meteorological miscalculation or disorganization of the forces operating through atmospheric instrumentalities to regulate and maintain uniform distribution and precipitation of the congealed vapor in accordance with the thermostatic conditions governed by climatic, solar, terrestrial, lunar and planetary influences over which the inhabitants of our mundane sphere have but passive and involuntary cognizance. It is any wonder, therefore, that the street cars are delayed and that our street department does not function in the old fashioned method of fighting an old fashioned storm?

ENFORCING PROHIBITION

It appears that certain liquor interests are determined to have the supreme court of the United States test the constitutionality of the Volstead act for the enforcement of the prohibition amendment. One of the legal questions raised against the act is, that congress has not absolute supremacy in the enforcement of the prohibition law and that each state within its own boundaries has co-ordinate power with the federal government in whatever steps are taken for the enforcement of the law.

An interesting situation has arisen in Michigan, where some local officials refused to recognize the federal authority as exercised for the enforcement of the prohibition law.

The enforcement provision of the 18th amendment reads as follows: "The congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

It seems that the stand taken in some of the states is, that the federal authorities cannot enforce the law within the limits of any state unless the government of that state is willing to concur. If that supposition has any weight in law, then the legal provisions for the enforcement of prohibition would fail wherever the state authorities refused to concur.

In due time, however, the supreme court of the United States will clear up all the legal points raised by the opponents of prohibition so that thereafter, the whole measure will be thoroughly understood and the points in controversy finally settled.

THE BUDGET?

The senate has got as far as a sub-committee agreement on a proposed bill for a national budget. Senator McCormick is responsible for it. It makes the secretary of the treasury in effect a "minister of finance," with full authority under the president to review all items of all departments and full responsibility for all items passed on to congress for appropriations. It would take from the treasury—very sensibly—all side lines, such as the public health service, the coast guard, the bureau of war risk insurance and similar bureaus, which have no connection with money-raising and spending activities.

It is proposed to create, under the secretary of the treasury, a budget bureau with a commissioner at the head, whose duty it will be to co-ordinate the work of providing sources of revenue to conform to the budget requirements; to investigate waste and duplication in the government departments, recommend changes, provide rules under which money shall be spent and generally see that the budget is adhered to. The bill thoughtfully excepts congress from the necessity of holding down expensel. Nevertheless, it is a good start in the right direction.

The United States is the only nation in the world of any consequence that runs its finances haphazard. It is the only one where spending has no relation to income. It will be hard work to convince pork-barrel committees and log-rolling congressmen that budget legislation is desirable, but Uncle Sam has got to the point where he can no longer afford to spend recklessly without regard to income. Budget legislation has become a necessity. The republicans promised it as part of their platform in the last congressional elections. The country is waiting for the fulfilling of that promise.—N.E.A.

FARMERS MAY CURTAIL

The country today is threatened with a curtailment of production by the farmers of the various states, for the reason that they cannot afford to pay the wages demanded by farm laborers.

At a time when increased production is the need of the hour, it would indeed be unfortunate if there should be any curtailment of the area under cultivation during the coming spring and summer.

It is reported from various parts of the country that wages on farms average 14 per cent higher than last year, although they were then 80 per cent higher than at the beginning of the war. It appears that there is an exodus of laborers from the farms seeking the higher wages paid in the cities, in most of which there is a scarcity of labor. The stream of immigration that is now coming from some of the European countries, may help in some degree to supply the shortage of labor, although the immigrants in most cases settle in the industrial cities.

This is a subject of great importance and one with which congress should deal in order to prevent any decrease in the production of crops. The farming industry is fundamental as upon that the people depend mainly for food. During the war, there was a great increase in production and now, on account of the scarcity of labor, if some remedy be not provided, the tendency will be to reach the other extreme. That would seriously affect the prosperity of this nation and it would tend to keep prices at their present high level, whereas abundant crops would help to reduce prices.

PERSHING AND OTHERS

For some reason or other, Gen. Pershing does not seem to be very popular with the men who served under him in France. It is difficult to understand just why this is so. It may be due to the manner in which the war was conducted, Gen. Pershing did not have much opportunity to come in contact with his troops. It may have been that he had no desire to mingle with them after the manner of Gen. Edwards and some other popular commanders. There seems to be a feeling that Gen. Pershing personally is not a good mixer nor gifted with what goes by the name of "sociability," a quality that has no place in military tactics, in which the general is conceded to be an adept.

As a presidential candidate, the boom for Gen. Pershing is not attaining very great force nor do we believe it will gain in momentum, as the time for the convention approaches. In this respect Herbert C. Hoover and Gen. Wood seem to appeal most strongly to republicans. Gen. Wood is a military politician and Mr. Hoover is an able business executive who is in danger of attaining political distinction, for which he is in a very receptive mood.

Gen. Pershing's reception at Boston has given the people of that city an opportunity to meet the man and judge of his personal qualities, which may have been either misunderstood or misrepresented. It would be well if all the presidential candidates moved around so that the people would have an opportunity to meet them and acquire something more than a hearsay knowledge of the men who aspire to the high position of president of the United States.

FREE PUBLICITY

Asked as to the amount of free publicity matter received daily by this paper and what use is made of it, we feel it is but right to expose the extent to which various lines of free advertising bombard the newspaper offices without any result whatever.

How much of this stuff is received?

Well, in yesterday's mail, which brought an average amount, there was copy enough to fill a page and a half of The Sun, about a page and a half from the department of agriculture at Washington, two pages from the American Association of Forestry, a page and a half or perhaps two pages of printed and typewritten matter in behalf of presidential candidates, chiefly, Governor Lowndes of Illinois, James W. Gerard, General Wood and General Pershing; one page made up of miscellaneous articles, relative to railroads, picture censorship, legislative matters before the general court, college and church drives, memorial drives, America's gift to France drive, appeals for the children of Central Europe, and various articles of political propaganda but none of the paid description.

It is hardly safe to throw any communication away without opening, and it requires at least half an hour to open the envelopes and glance at the contents in order to see that nothing that is desirable for publication goes into the waste basket.

How much of this matter is used?

Well, about one-half of one per cent and that has some news value, or otherwise has reference to some worthy movement which the editor feels should receive general support in the interests of patriotism, justice and charity.

One of the most aggravating features of this publicity matter is that sent out from the publicly agencies of large corporations. These agencies are well paid for their work in flooding newspaper offices with their output, always prepared as "news" and enclosed in large envelopes marked in flaming letters of red, "News-Rush." Sometimes as many as four or five such letters reach the office on the same day, enclosing the same identical matter, thus indicating a duplication of effort at headquarters, together with a most culpable waste of white paper and clerical labor.

The agencies sending out this matter are fooling their clients. They must imagine that editors have nothing to do but read their stuff and that the average newspaper can be gulled by such fake methods. In this they are mistaken.

It is refreshing to find that Adjutant General Conrad, chief of the publicity bureau of the United States army at New York, has decided to investigate this waste of white paper and the imposition upon the press. He feels that any publicity matter sent out by his bureau, unless it contains real live news matter, should be paid for. It is really reassuring to find that there is even one man in the government departments who does not regard the newspapers as eleemosynary institutions. Yet the press is willing to give the army and navy very liberal notices free of charge.

The government departments have been among the worst offenders in this matter of flooding the newspapers with publicity material. The bureau for the vocational training of disabled soldiers and the bureau of education have issued a vast volume of publicity matter, very little of which ever reaches the readers.

Now, if these and all other departments learned to condense their matter and issue to the press only brief statements having some news value, they might secure publicity which they cannot obtain by their present methods.

One of the departments at Washington, we cannot now recall which, adopted such a strict policy of saving white paper, that on all the publicity material sent out, they used both sides of the paper. That showed the proper spirit, but such a worthy example counts for little where the rule is lavish, we might almost say criminal waste of paper in a vain effort to secure free publicity.

A Regular Man

A farm hand who had worked every day in the week from dawn till late at night, finishing the chores by lantern light, went to the farmer at the end of the month and said: "I'm going to quit. You promised me a steady job of work."

"Well, haven't you got one?" was the astonished reply.

"No," said the worker. "There are three or four hours every night I don't have anything to do except foot away my time sleeping."—Buffalo Times.

Balm for Crows

When Gen. Pershing arrived in Washington after his return from France he had with him a trunk containing a mass of medals, citations and ribbons and the correspondence concerning it. Attached to the war department were detailed to go through the material. They had not gone far when they ran across this memorandum which bore the signature of one of the general's aides and a date several months old:

"The king of ——— was here yesterday and left a couple of medals."

In one corner of the memorandum, over the initials of the C.-I.-C., was this pencilled notation:

"Write him something pretty."—The Home Sector.

The Optimistic View

It's been a long, cold, hard winter, but that, probably means an early, warm, delightful spring. The seasons do about balance, take it year with year. There is no doubt that the steady cold winter months are the most wholesome and healthful for those who are well clothed and well fed. They are good, too, for Mother Earth, for under the snow covering the wheat and herbs and grasses and perennials are nesting snugly, husbanding their strength for a rich blossoming and harvesting later. It's a reasonable weather, folks, and is needed as a setting for spring, summer and autumn just as the rains are needed that the sunshine may show on green expanses and wealth of coloring; just as the clouds are needed to make the sunrise and sunset glorious. In less than a month spring will be officially here. March 21, and if the winter strings out its snow and cold until then, so much the more assurance of a warm, balmy consistent spring to tell again.

IN BED TWO YEARS AS RESULT OF PNEUMONIA

Cough left and she soon got back strength and flesh

"I was confined to my bed for 2 years from the effects of plural pneumonia. It left me with an awful cough and bronchial trouble. Was treated by 12 different doctors with no apparent benefit."

"I had heard of Milks Emulsion but had no faith in anything. A friend urged me, and I tried it. From the first, I commenced to feel better. I have now taken seven bottles and am feeling fine. Have no cough or bronchial trouble, have regained my flesh and strength and am doing all the work for a family of seven. I never felt better in my life."—Mrs. Dell Sivers, 46 Fulton St., Phoenix, N. Y.

A run-down body invites disease. Let Milks Emulsion build you up as it has others. It costs nothing to try.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened, and is a powerful aid in relating and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only gold emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Squirrel In the Cage

(Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

I looked at a squirrel in the whirl of the wheel of his cage and he showed me the act and the fact of our partisan rage. For he entered his wheel and he cried, as he ran, "I'm for progress forever! I'm leading the van! It's fatal for men to be calm and contented! We've got to keep moving, or else we're demerited! So forward forever!" he panted and ran. And he finished, exhausted, just where he began.

Next day, with his confidence wholly unshaken, he said, "It is true I was slightly mistaken. My intent was all right, but the way I was led was head-on."

In a safe and sane squirrel was a thing to be dreaded. So he got in and ran (on the very same track) But this time he turned the wheel endlessly back!

"Safe and sane! safe and sane!" he proclaimed as he ran. But he hadn't got a jot from the place he began.

I laughed at the squirrel and his lack of acumen; I told him still, he's so funny human. Turning this way and that, just one thing we have proved—We have run both directions and yet haven't moved!

And we'll never "get somewhere" unless we are free. With our paws on the ground or our claws in the air, we're the squirrel in the whirl.

For friend, you're the squirrel in the whirl and you've no right to rage, As long as you're penned to the end of your partisan cage!

—EDMUND VANCE COOKE.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Even with a preponderance of cold and damp weather, the heating of the large tabernacle in East Merrimack street has been entirely adequate. Ten coal burning furnaces, bought from Camp Devens, keep the interior of the building comfortably warm, and with the floor covering of haled shavings the temperature has been sufficient no matter how cold outside. No water from melting snow has seeped into the building and at no point is there evidence caused by snow accumulation. All new wood was used in the construction and so well was the building put together that it will withstand all elements and this in spite of the fact that it is wholly temporary.

It is not far-fetched to say that we are passing through a history-making winter, one which will stand out in the memory of things unusual and which we will be able to recall to the succeeding generations as one of the worst New England ever has experienced. For the first time in the annals of the local trolley company, Nashua has been cut off by electric service for more than a month and will continue so until spring when warm weather will thaw the ice from the falls beyond Collinsville. Woburn and Lexington also will be cut off from Billerica until spring for both roads are buried so deep under a frozen mantle that the street car men will not attempt to cut them out.

The abolition of the waiting room in Merrimack square not only has caused discomfort for the people, but also for business men around the square. It has forced waiting passengers—and they have had to be "good waiters"—to seek shelter in those stores or business places that are kind enough to allow people to take refuge in their doorways to avoid the cold. People don't think anything of crowding a store, lunch room, or restaurant, and in many cases preventing customers from entering the establishment. On a very bad evening recently, the writer, a little hungry, wended his way to one of these "one-armed lunch rooms." When he reached the doorway it was so blocked by men and women waiting for cars that it was almost necessary for him to use foot-bail tactics to gain entrance. To tell the truth, when he saw the crowd, both inside and outside, and realized the difficulty of forcing his way through, he had half a mind to turn away to another restaurant. Most likely others did turn away. I also noticed that of all those who waited inside for cars only two purchased food, and that those sales were insignificant.

GEN. PERSHING PAYS TRIBUTE TO EDWARDS

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—Gen. John J. Pershing, father and leader of the American expeditionary force, came to Boston yesterday.

Royally welcomed and acclaimed by the citizens, greeted in behalf of the state by Governor Coolidge, in behalf of the city by Mayor Peters, he paid his first tribute last night to the Yankee Division and its erstwhile commander, Gen. Edwards, commander of the department of the northeast.

Speaking last night at a banquet given him by Mayor Peters in the Copley-Plaza, a banquet attended by the governor, the lieutenant-governor and many of Boston's most distinguished citizens, he mentioned the YD for the first time—the YD and its commander.

"Your distinguished department commander in charge of the 25th Division," he said tersely, "was always devoted to his cause and the services he rendered over there need no comment from me."

Gen. Pershing apparently won Boston with his smile. From the moment he stepped from the federal express in the South station, at 10 o'clock, yesterday morning, until the banquet at the Copley-Plaza ended at 11 last night, not an untoward incident occurred.

Every detail of the program arranged for him was carried out successfully. Thousands met him at the station. More than a thousand cheered his progress to the Watertown Arsenal, where he first went. Then still more thousands cheered his progress back to the Spencer club, where he and his staff had lunch as guests of Gen. Edwards.

Afterwards, the Massachusetts legislature, sitting in joint convention, paid him the highest honor, inviting him to address it. The senators and representatives had more cheers for him. And the gallery, jammed with men and women, added to the enthusiasm of his welcome at the state house.

Still later many ex-service men, some 600 or 700 of them, greeted him at the Cadet armory, and by the enthusiasm of their welcome more than made up for the scarcity of their numbers.

Then last, before the banquet, he was greeted by Boston's school children, thousands of them, all that could be packed into Tremont Temple. Their greeting, perhaps, was the most enthusiastic of all, the most spontaneous. Waving American flags they cheered and cheered him until it seemed that the roof of the great auditorium must burst open from the volume of the noise.

Truly Boston's welcome to the father and leader of the American expeditionary force may be said to have been a royal one.

In greeting the A.E.F. leader, Gen. Pershing said:

"As commander of the northeastern soldiers of my command, I have the honor, Gen. Pershing, to extend every welcome to you, 'General of the Armies of the United States.'"

ADOPTED SON OF VICE PRESIDENT DEAD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Morrison Marshall, the young adopted son of Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, died here early today, after a short illness. He was suffering from acidosis.

The child was three years old, and had been a member of the vice president's family since June, 1917. He never was legally adopted, it was stated today. He was taken into the vice president's home when he was 19 months old from a diet kitchen here, where his mother, who was employed as a chambermaid, left him in care, as her duties occupied her both day and night.

Vice President and Mrs. Marshall have no children of their own and the little boy was first taken to their apartments in a hotel for a visit by Mrs. Marshall, who was touched by the child's plight. The vice president and Mrs. Marshall became so attached to him that with the consent of the mother, they made him a member of the family.

SHIP SOLD DURING WAR

Britain Permits Sailing of Bahia Blanca, Sold to Argentina by Germany

BUENOS AIRES, Wednesday, Feb. 25.—James W. R. Macleay, British minister to Argentina, has informed this government that Great Britain has no objections to the sailing of the steamship Bahia Blanca for New York, under the Argentine flag. It is learned, however, that England reserves its rights, as a member of the allied reparations commission, to have a vote in the determination of that body as to the disposition of this ship, which was purchased by Argentina from Germany during the war.

Mr. Macleay informed the foreign minister that, so far as Great Britain was concerned, there was no intention to seize the ship en route, the whole matter being in the hands of the allied reparations commission, which has not as yet taken up the subject. The departure of the Bahia Blanca, which has been delayed pending Mr. Macleay's arrival, is now expected within the next 10 days.

An authoritatively outlined here, the British government's position has been that the Bahia Blanca is one of the German ships which Germany would have been obliged to surrender under the reparations clauses of the treaty if the vessel had not been sold. It is pointed out that if this boat is excepted a precedent would be established for other German ships similarly disposed of, or which could be sold. There is a well founded impression here that it is probable when the matter of disposition of German ships is taken up by the reparations commission, that body will call on Germany to produce the Bahia Blanca and that when Germany informs the commission the vessel is in the possession of Argentina, a demand will be made that Germany refund to the allies the price for which the Bahia Blanca was sold, thus upholding the principle of reparation.

Worsting of the federal agents in the first clash with state officers in the enforcement of the 18th amendment was a serious blow to enforcement of the dry law, Major Dalrymple declared before his departure.

Martin S. McDonough, prosecuting attorney of Iron county and leader of the county authorities, who Major Dalrymple declared were "in open revolt" against the United States, received a telegram yesterday from District Attorney Myron H. Walker at Grand Rapids advising him to take no action until the district attorney could come to investigate.

Mr. McDonough had obtained a warrant for the arrest of Major Dalrymple charging him with malicious libel and had planned to have it served by Chief

Influenza Is Making Many Victims All Over the Country

Be Prepared. Use Goldine No. 1 to Strengthen Your Whole Body, and Goldine No. 2 to Purify the Entire System—Well-Known Citizens Give Endorsement.

This is what they say about Goldine: "Over a year ago I had the grippe and it left me in bad shape. I had catarrh and severe headaches. I was troubled with coughing and spitting in the morning. I had rheumatism in my muscles and joints, while my arms and shoulders were very bad. My fingers were so numb that I lost all sense of feeling in them. I could hardly eat anything without suffering severely after meals. This Goldine has done wonders for me. In a few days my pain was all gone and I can now eat foods of all kinds that I have been unable to touch for years. I am only too glad to give my endorsement to a good, honest medicine that does actually produce results. I trust that those who know me will take advantage of my endorsement and give this wonderful medicine a trial."

J. D. STRAIGHT
Mr. William Pierce says: "I had kidney and bladder trouble for several years, brought on by a strain or heavy lifting. I had to get up many times at night and had pains across my back so severe that I could hardly endure it. I was also troubled with rheumatism in my knees, joints and muscles and was in pretty bad shape all over. I have tried lots of different medicines but have never used another medicine that puts new life into a person and benefits the entire system like this Goldine has. My wife is also using it and it has about cured her of a bad cough of long standing. We are both praising it to everybody."

of Police Cyrus Sensiba at the railroad station last night.

A telephone message from Crystal Falls, 15 miles away, however, notified McDonough that Major Dalrymple, in anticipation of trouble, had issued 30 rounds of ammunition to each man in his party. The prosecutor then advised Iron River citizens to go home and avoid any demonstration.

Yesterday Mr. McDonough warned Major Dalrymple that if he carried out his plan and arrested anyone in Iron county without a warrant or searched any private home for liquor, the county officers would "arrest every man in your party and put them in jail."

No Arrests Made
The prohibition director already had received orders from Mr. Kramer calling off the "armed invasion" and no arrests were made.

"Reports that I took the 11 barrels of wine from Leo Grove, federal prohibition supervisor for northern Michigan, and the state police, and returned it to the Italians from whom it was taken, are false," McDonough declared yesterday.

"I confiscated this wine when I found it in the possession of Grove. I placed my own men in charge and put the barrels in a safe place."

Following a conference between Prosecuting Attorney McDonough and Major Dalrymple, the latter announced that he would send his men back to Chicago.

Police Chief Sensiba, one of the men whose arrest Dalrymple had planned, accompanied Mr. McDonough to the conference. Sensiba was armed with a warrant for Maj. Dalrymple's arrest. The warrant charges Dalrymple with circulating malicious libel. Major Dalrymple, answering McDonough's ultimatum, declared he was here to enforce the law and would perform his duties regardless of threats by the prosecutor.

Calls Major "Grandstand Performer"
McDonough charged Dalrymple with being a "grandstand performer, moving picture actor and publicity seeker."

Iron River was filled with miners and woodsmen yesterday to watch the maneuvering of federal and county forces. Since early morning natives trekked in over the hills on snowshoes and skis in anticipation of the expected battle in Iron River. Only two events have broken the monotony of the day for them.

One was the spectacular meeting of the opposing leaders in the crowded lobby of the Iron Inn, and the other was the equally spectacular destruction of nine barrels of red wine.

Surrounded by glum-faced miners, Major Dalrymple, armed with a heavy

sledge, knocked the heads from the barrels and allowed the confiscated liquor to gush out into a three-foot snowdrift.

Prosecutor McDonough, who took the wine away from the federal and state raiders, had placed it in the basement for safe keeping. The heavy barrels were loaded on a two-horse sleigh and hauled to the centre of a nearby street, where Major Dalrymple accomplished their destruction. Entry of Washington authorities in the case, with orders to suspend operations here, has destroyed prohibition enforcement in the upper peninsula. Major Dalrymple declared yesterday. Vigorous prosecution of Mr. McDonough and his aides for interfering with the federal raiders was necessary to show that the law must be obeyed he said. Later he said he would go to Washington to lay the case before Commissioner Kramer.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble. Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

LOWELL'S OLDEST HOUSE

John Eliot Preached to Indians in Structure Now Owned by City

There stands up on the westerly side of Old Ferry road between Varum avenue and the Pawtucket boulevard, one of the oldest structures in this section of the country which history and tradition both trace back to 1650. John Eliot, the noted apostle among the Indians, is reported to have preached there and Capt. John Blood, a Revolutionary leader, is said to have had his residence there. It was at one time used as an Indian court and there is a well-founded story to the effect that it was the first structure erected by white men between Haverhill and the Canadian border.

The house is two stories in height, of wooden frame and contains about eight rooms. Today the structure itself and the land on which it stands is owned by the city of Lowell, having been seized by vote of the municipal council so that the land might be used by the water department for well purposes.

When the land was seized the city made no effort to oust the tenants of the ancient structure and today it is occupied by one Louis Alexander. The building is in more or less a dilapidated condition having been used recently as a farm house.

Today it came into the limelight again when a delegation of Pawtucket residents waited upon members of the municipal council and Commissioner John F. Salmon, in particular, asking that something be done to improve conditions in that vicinity, as they believed that in its present condition the house is a menace to public health.

Francis J. O'Hare, agent of the board of health, was called in on the matter and he stated that if the city owned the land it was up to the water department to remedy conditions. Accordingly, Commissioner Salmon got in touch with City Solicitor William D. Regan and the latter drew up a notice requesting the present tenants to vacate. This will be served at once but Commissioner Salmon stated that he would not expect the tenants to get out until milder weather came.

There are various reasons why an effort is being made to have the city take over the house as a relic of early history beyond the mere fact that it is now a menace to the health of Pawtucket residents. The Lowell Historical society has become interested in it and would like to see the city preserve it and a second reason is that the Pawtucket memorial committee hopes to have a picture of it in the souvenir history of that section of the city which it plans to publish in conjunction with the erection of a memorial to its soldiers and sailors next summer. Were it to be destroyed or left to decay for want of care, it would no longer be a part of Pawtucket's historical landmarks.

Today the house is practically unapproachable because of the mountains of snow surrounding it and no road has been cut through the drifts whereby one may reach it. However, as soon as weather conditions become favorable the house will be taken over and put in proper condition, appropriate to its long and interesting history.

THE N. E. GUARANTY CORP. Although only in business a few weeks since the first of the present year the New England Guaranty Corporation, Sears Building, Boston, has already earned profits that are sufficient to pay the 1920 dividends on all preferred stock, now outstanding. The corporation has been organized by substantial and widely known manufacturers, bankers, financial men and business men to do a commercial banking business, and its value to manufacturers and jobbers is already apparent.

Chandler M. Wood, president of the Metropolitan Trust company of Boston, is president of the new corporation, and the vice presidents are Arthur J.

Skinner, president of the Commercial Trust company of Springfield, John H. Harrington, owner and publisher of The Lowell Sun, and Richard E. Breed, president of the American Gas Electric company of New York. Horace E. Hildreth, director of the Walltham Watch company, is treasurer. Arthur U. Hosmer is secretary and assistant treasurer.

Christopher L. Meyerdirks, who for 15 years managed the credit department of Knauth, Nichols and Kuhn, commercial and international bankers of New York without the loss of a dollar, is credit manager for the new corporation.

The other directors, all well known and successful men, are as follows: Daniel E. Storms, vice president of the Perlethous & Storms Tool Corp., New York; H. L. Handy, president of the J. L. Handy company, Springfield; J. T. McGregory, vice president of the Commercial Trust company, Springfield; S. W. Jameson, president of the United Life and Accident Insurance company, Concord, N. H.; Charles P. Holland, president of the Plymouth County Trust company, Brockton; Frank H. Page, president, National Equipment company, Springfield; former Congressman Eugene E. Reed of Manchester, N. H., active vice president of the Watson-Williams company, Boston; Charles E. Schott, president, Franklin County Savings Bank and Trust company, St. Albans, Vt.; Charles E. Flatbush, president of the National bank, West Newton; Edward J. Watson, president of the Watson-Williams company of Boston, investment bankers; Frank B. Compton, president of the People's Savings Bank, Providence; Col. Walter R. Porter, treasurer of the Troy Blanket Mills, Keene, N. H.; Clifton Colman, president, Manufacturers' National bank, Lynn; H. Douglas Williams, treasurer of the Watson-Williams company, Boston; Alfred D. Fisher, shoe manufacturer, Lynn; former Governor Charles F. Floyd, president of the Floyd Clothing company, Manchester, N. H.; Chas. A. Littlefield of Littlefield & Moulton, box manufacturers, Lynn; Daniel Boylan, president, Boylan Tug and Transportation company, New York; and Albert J. Norton, vice president, Commercial Trust company, New York.

Comparatively few business men realize that fully $3,000,000,000 is tied up in the United States in open accounts, but such is the fact. The new corporation will help to convert some of this inactive wealth into active capital. Commercial banking, in brief, consists of purchasing open commercial accounts receivable and acceptances, from well rated manufacturers and jobbers, paying therefor about 50 per cent of their face value upon receipt of proof of shipment. The remaining 50 per cent is retained as a guarantee and paid only as each account is collected. Manufacturers and jobbers greet with enthusiasm a plan which enables them to increase their production without resorting to the expedient now so common of an increase in their capital stock with its consequent drain upon future earnings.

The directors, in session recently, voted to declare their first dividend, covering not only the quarter between January and April, but applying also to cumulative issues prior to Jan. 1, at the rate of 75 per annum.

This splendid business has been brought to New England through the instrumentality of the Watson-Williams company, investment bankers, of Boston, who are fiscal agents.

Bright eyes

Dull eyes and that disagreeable, listless feeling are usually the first signs of a bilious condition. A tablespoonful of "L. F." Atwood's Medicine should be taken promptly to stimulate the action of the liver, bowels and other digestive organs. This household remedy never fails to bring quick relief and may ward off a serious attack of indigestion.

Sufferers from biliousness should have a bottle always on hand, and take small doses regularly as a precaution. This will tone the stomach and keep the entire system healthy and normal.

Don't experiment with unknown widely advertised pills and tablets that may contain acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives. The true "L. F." has established a splendid reputation through 60 years of unchanging quality, and is well worth the confidence it enjoys. It has been used in many families with unvarying beneficial results for three generations. Get a bottle today. Most druggists and storekeepers carry it. ANOTHER JOY KILLER ON THE WAR PATH

A warning to Lowell people and a few bits of advice from government authorities as to the danger of a disease which has recently come into prominence in several sections of the country is contained in a notice received today by Agent Francis J. O'Hare of the board of health from the public health service at Washington. The article has to do with botulism, the scientific term for the disease caused by the consumption of food products infected with the organism known as bacillus botulinus.

In most instances where the disease has resulted fatally it has been caused by the eating of ripe olives. No cases of this nature have been reported to date in Lowell but Agent O'Hare believes that the warning of the federal health authorities is of timely importance to Lowell people. In part it is as follows:

"The public health service in conjunction with other federal, state and municipal authorities charged with the enforcement of laws and regulations for the protection of the public health has been deeply concerned because of the frequently reported fatalities in different sections of the country attributed to the consumption of food products infected with the organism known as bacillus botulinus. These fatalities have been traced to the consumption of ripe olives, although some cases have also been traced to home-canned string beans, home-canned asparagus and home-canned corn. In making inquiries as to the activities of various government agencies in connection with the outbreak of botulism poisoning the public health service has learned that the

VALGER HAS BETTER OF LOWELL, DEFEATED IN CHAMPION KILBANE OVERTIME GAME

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 26.—Johnny Kilbane, world's featherweight boxing champion, was outpointed by Benny Valger of New York in an eight-round no-decision bout here last night. Valger had the better of every round except the first, which was even.

A forfeit of $1000 put up by Valger under an agreement to weigh 124 pounds or under at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon was claimed by the title holder.

The champion gave a disappointing exhibition, seldom taking the aggressive and frequently resorting to clinches, hugging and wrestling.

Valger sent in five left jabs to the stomach without a return in the first round but Kilbane uncovered a sharp attack which made honors even in all the succeeding rounds Valger forced the pace. When able to get into close quarters he landed lefts to the wind and short right uppercuts. The champion favored exchanges at long range.

In the second round Valger came out the better in a rapid exchange of blows.

Kilbane sent across several stiff lefts and a right to the head in the 4th but received considerable bodily punishment in return. In the sixth Valger rushed into the point of his nose. The blow failed to stop him from boring in. Valger hammered the title hold, about the body in the seventh and sent a left hook to Kilbane's mouth, cutting his lip.

The champion was content to clinch or block in the closing round.

Philly Doyle's recent successes have brought him many flattering offers, one especially attractive from Portland, Me., to box Chick Simler, a double six round bout. He is also sought by several Philadelphia promoters, his great battle with the talk of New England, and a Boston promoter is negotiating to book Britt and Doyle for a title match. Jack Leahy, who is looking after Boyle, says the local boxer is ready to meet any lightweight in the country.

Frank Mollwe plans to soon begin training for further ring activities. He has just succeeded in overcoming the attacks of "flu" and he says that said "flu" was one of the toughest opponents he ever encountered. He is gaining strength rapidly and says he will be back in the ring in a few weeks.

The Lawrence papers say Kid Thomas is all over Young Drew down there the other night only to have the bout called a draw. Fans who saw the pair in action in Lowell several weeks ago remember how Thomas gave Drew quite a kicking. The bout was a good one, and now with each having a decision to his credit, a "rubber" match is in order.

BRANDT OUTPUNCHES HAYES
LEWISTON, Me., Feb. 26.—Dutch Brandt's ability to punch in the clinches earned him a shade victory over Chick Hayes of Boston last night. The bout was a close one, but Brandt was the more dangerous and easily outscored Hayes. Both were in fine condition.

FALL RIVER, Feb. 26.—A crowd of 1800 polo fans were treated to one of the fastest games seen here this season, when the locals won over the Solonville City quintet by the score of 4 to 3 in a game which required almost 10 minutes of overtime play before Fall River bagged the verdict.

The work of both goal tenders was prominent throughout the Tiger cage man saved his team on many occasions by his brilliant work. Harkins turned in a flashy game for the visitors and his regular near the close of the third period sent the game into overtime. GOLD BUGS WIN
WORCESTER, Feb. 26.—The final count was 6 to 4 with the Gold Bugs taking the honors here last night. It was a rough game. The trailing of Taylor, the first rush of the Worcester quintet, by layout of Providence counted materially in the latter's getting the decision. At the close of the game spectators attacked Referee Graham, but the official escaped serious injury as a result of the scores.

JACK SHARKEY

SHARKEY HERE FOR BOUT TONIGHT

Jack Sharkey, the famous New York bantamweight, who jumped into prominence by defeating Jimmy White, the flyweight champion of England, in a sensational champion at Milwaukee, arrived here yesterday afternoon and will hop into the ring at the Crescent A.A. tonight to meet Jimmy Conway of Little Rock, Ark., in the main bout of 12 rounds.

Sharkey was the first man to meet White in America. When the match was made White figured Sharkey as easy picking. He got the surprise of his life, for Sharkey outboxed and outpointed him all the way. No decisions are allowed in the city made famous by that erstwhile beverage, but every newspaper in the city gave Sharkey the award. Every crowd that time Sharkey has been in demand throughout the country.

Happy Conley and Sergt. Swanson of Camp Devens, two great rivals, will meet in the semi-final of eight rounds. Young Christo of Lowell and Young Stone of Lawrence will meet in one preliminary and Billy Taylor of Lowell and Joe Hall of Lawrence will perform in the other six-round.

SOLDIER SEEKS BRIDE TO WIN $10,000

CAMP DEVENS, Feb. 26.—Sergeant Edward J. Seitz of Camp Devens has 40 days to choose a wife or lose an inheritance of $10,000.

By the stipulation of a wealthy New York woman—a near relative—who is still living, Seitz must marry as soon as he is discharged from the army. His discharge will take effect in a month and 10 days.

Sergt. Seitz is an overseas veteran of the Canadian and American armies. Together with the prospective dowry of $10,000, he has the following attributes to offer: Six foot, 2 inches of perfect manhood, good looks, splendid habits—smokes but doesn't drink—college bred, druggist by profession, musically inclined and a companionable sort of chap.

Sergt. Seitz is a "top" in charge of a medical detachment at the Devens hospital. He stated that he was born in Buffalo 25 years ago. From Buffalo he went to Chicago where he attended St. Ignace college for three years. On leaving college he entered the drug trade and was progressing rapidly in his profession when the wanderlust seized him.

From Chicago he journeyed north, south, east and west. He visited many cities in the United States until 1915. Then he went to Canada and enlisted; went to England and was discharged; came back and enlisted in the field artillery at Jefferson barracks, Missouri. From the field artillery he was transferred to the medical corps at Fort Leavenworth. Then overseas, one year spent in France, Belgium and Germany and back to Camp Devens.

Sergt. Seitz has at last called it a day. The old wanderlust has left him. He is through with the army. Now he wants the "right girl" and his inheritance.

FURNITURE
FURNITURE, new and second hand, source head at the showing at the Kloby Shevlin pictures in conjunction with the Stecher-Caddock wrestling pictures at the Colonial Theatre last night. These pictures will be presented every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

All fans, and there were some 15,000, who saw that memorable battle in the ninth Kloby picture, will never forget Kloby's remarkable comeback which brought him victory and the welterweight championship of New England. For seven rounds, however, one of the cleverest welters in this section at his weight, battered the Lawrence idol all over the ring.

Then in the eighth Kloby took at him men like a tiger, and by letting go a shower of terrific blows, weakened Shevlin and nullified all the advantages Shevlin had gained up until that time.

In the ninth Kloby jumped out of his corner and sent over a clout to the jaw that resounded throughout the park and brought to an end one of the most sensational ring battles ever staged in this section of the country.

All these details, still fresh in the minds of all who saw the bout, are faithfully reproduced in the pictures.

Treaty Called Instrument of "Hate and Destruction" and "Serpent of Treason"

BITTER DEBATE IN THE SENATE

Another Broadside of Denunciation Loosed by Irreconcilable Opponents

Debate Follows Vote To Pass Over Article 10—Senators France and Reed Speak

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Another broadside of denunciation was loosed by irreconcilable opponents of the peace treaty today when the senate took up the subject under an agreement to keep it constantly under consideration until disposed of.

Senators France, republican, Maryland, and Reed, democrat, Missouri, led off for the irreconcilables, the former characterizing the treaty as an instrument of "hate and destruction" and the latter calling it a "serpent of treason."

The debate began after the senate had voted with only a few scattering "noses" to pass over Article 10, until action had been taken on all the other proposed reservations. The motion was made by Senator Lodge, and although Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania, one of the irreconcilables group, said he could not see the wisdom of delaying a decision, no roll call was demanded.

Senator France, presenting formally the resolution he offered several days ago for a declaration of peace, declared the reservation discussion had descended to "sophistry" and "mere quibbling over language." Neither the republican nor democratic reservations proposed, he said, would materially modify the League of Nations.

The France reservation also provides for an international conference to consider a concert for peace, but provides that this authorization shall be ineffective if a president pledged for the league with or without reservations, shall be elected next fall. By this method, the Maryland senator argued, the presidential campaign could

Between 50 and 60 cars of soft coal, consigned to various Lowell textile mills and public utilities, are frozen in on side tracks in local freight yards today as the result of yesterday's storm and the cold weather last night. As no coal rolled in last night or this morning, the supply on hand, although inaccessible, has not augmented since Tuesday.

Cars in the yards today are consigned to several local dealers, the Lowell Gas Co., the Hamilton, Massachusetts, and Tremont & Suffolk corporations, the American Lumber & Leather, and Saco-Lowell shops.

With an acute shortage of men in addition to the freeze-up last night, hardly a car moved in the yards today. Freight transportation was at a standstill and it was not until afternoon that the trackmen succeeded in opening switches lightly sealed. It was slow work and had to be done by men with handpicks.

Railroad officials on the Boston & Maine today said they have had to rely almost wholly on the regular gangs of trackmen to remove ice and snow and that temporary workmen have been extremely hard to employ.

Passenger trains from Boston and the north were on better schedule today than yesterday although delays were numerous and late arrivals were not uncommon.

Armed Force of Federal Agents Quits Iron River—"Revolt" Flickers Out

Failure Due to Lack of Support From Washington, Says Dalrymple

IRON RIVER, Mich., Feb. 26.—The armed force of federal agents under command of Major A. V. Dalrymple, who came here from Chicago to "put down a liquor rebellion in the upper Michigan peninsula," today had been withdrawn and the "revolt" itself had flickered out. The only casualties were nine barrels of home-made wine taken by revenue agents from a parish priest's house where the state had stored it for safe keeping, and poured into the snow.

Major Dalrymple announced he would go to Washington to "lay all the facts before Commissioner Kramer." State Attorney McDonough reiterated he would demand a full and complete investigation of this affair and of Major Dalrymple's part in giving the United States the impression that Iron River was in "revolt" and is inhibited by savagery.

Lack of support from Washington, Major Dalrymple said, had caused the failure of his "expedition" but he declared he would not quit his office unless Commissioner Kramer requested it.

Major Dalrymple, who led the armed expedition to Iron River with the

URGE VETO BY WILSON

R.R. Men Call at White House To Present Memorial to President

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Representatives of the railroad brotherhoods called at the White house today to present a memorial to President Wilson, urging that he veto the compromise railroad bill. They were joined by representatives of the farmers' national council, who supplemented a previous request for veto with written argument.

"The visitors did not see the president, but were received by Secretary Tumulty who promised to lay the memorials and other documents before the executive."

The brotherhood memorial was framed by the union representatives meeting here to consider the president's proposal for settlement of their wage demands, and it set forth "the reasons why the more than 2,000,000 railroad employees believe the president should veto the railroad bill."

The memorial said the bill violated the fundamental principles of the American government by guaranteeing to

DEATHS FROM FLU EPIDEMIC

The Present Epidemic Is Not Nearly as Serious as in the Fall of 1918

1112 Cases Reported Thus Far—News of the Day at City Hall

The present epidemic of influenza in Lowell is not anywhere near as deadly or entailing as many cases as the first epidemic here in the fall of 1918, according to board of health records.

This year's epidemic is now in its sixth week, having been noted first on Jan. 19. Up to date 1112 cases have been reported and 31 deaths due to influenza or pneumonia with influenza complications. Twelve deaths have been due to straight influenza.

In the corresponding weeks of the 1918 epidemic, which began Sept. 26, there were six times as many cases reported as in the current epidemic, or a total of 6662. In that epidemic 341 deaths were caused in the first five weeks, 140 of them being due to straight influenza and the others to pneumonia with influenza complications.

That the present epidemic is on the wane is hardly to be doubted from the meagre reports of the past few days. Only four cases had been reported up to noon today with no deaths. There were ten cases yesterday with three deaths.

"Flu" Showed In

Evidently the generous deluge of winter bestowed on Lowell within the past few weeks has dampened interest in presidential delegates for although City Clerk Stephen Flynn has had nomination papers for delegates at large and district delegates available at his office for several weeks, none has yet been taken out. Tomorrow the registrars of voters will hold their first sessions of certification of such papers but from present indications the registrars will have nothing to do. Three more certification sessions will be held on March 5, 12 and 19. The

BOND DRIVE AT $40,000 MARK

Campaign For Irish Republic Funds Is Drawing to a Close

$60,000 Must Be Raised in Two Days If Lowell Is To Secure Quota

With only two days left in which to reach its quota of $100,000, Lowell's Irish bond campaign had not made even the halfway mark this afternoon and the best the committee in charge could do was announce a total of $10,000 already raised.

However, there is every expectation that this figure will be given a substantial boost between now and Saturday evening. The unfavorable weather has prevented many of the team captains from visiting headquarters to make their reports and as yet there have been few large subscriptions announced. It is known that several "four figure" contributions will be forthcoming before the drive is ended and with the 500 team workers spurred on in the final hours of the drive to corral every possible bond buyer, there is reason to believe that the quota will be very closely approached before the curtain is drawn.

This afternoon many of the workers were able to give all their time to the drive as the downtown stores are closed. The house to house canvass is being conducted persistently in all parts of the city and there is also a lively business being done in the campaign.

MAYOR THOMPSON STILL ON SICK LIST

Mayor Perry D. Thompson is still confined to his home by illness and has been advised by his physician to remain there until Saturday. Accordingly, the municipal council again postponed action on the annual budget at its meeting this morning.

The only business of interest to come up at the meeting was a request from the local post of the American Legion asking the council to appropriate $2500 for the observance of Memorial day. The matter will be taken up when the annual budget is considered.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 11:10, with Commissioner Marchand presiding.

N. W. Matthews, Jr., was appointed a weigher of coal, and Joseph L. Pidgeon a constable.

Mary Silva entered a claim for personal injury. Referred to the law department.

A communication from Lowell post, No. 57, American Legion, asked that the council appropriate $2500 for the proper observance of Memorial day. On motion of Commissioner Donnelly the matter was referred to the city auditor to be included in the annual budget.

The city auditor was authorized to issue a warrant on the city treasurer for the payment of $210 to the purchasing agent for the purchase of postage stamps.

The council then approved several bills, among them one for partial payment for the new water department pumping engine and another for the payment of the architects of the memorial auditorium.

Adjourned at 11:20 until Saturday at 10 o'clock.

Today's victim was a two-year-old son. The only members of the family left are Vosburg and a daughter, two months old.

Ask Hearing on Dempsey Case March 8

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The supreme court was asked by the government to hear, on March 8, with the Rhode Island case, arguments on appeals instituted by George C. In bringing the suit, Dempsey alleged the act was unconstitutional. Solicitor General King said counsel had concurred in steps to expedite consideration of the Massachusetts case.

EVANGELISTIC REVIVAL

Big Attendance at Tabernacle Meeting This Afternoon—Sermon on "Power"

Paid skies favored the evangelistic revival today and were largely instrumental in raising the attendance at the 2:30 o'clock meeting to approximately 1500. Dr. George T. Stephens took "Power" for his subject and deeply impressed his congregation with the earnestness of his utterances.

A meeting for personal workers will be held in the tabernacle annex at 5:45 o'clock and in order to ensure the attendance at this service of seating accommodations at the regular evening meeting, spaces will be reserved for them. The subject of the evangelist's evening sermon will be "Personal Responsibilities."

Dr. Stephens spoke to fathers and sons at last night's meeting and although curtailed transportation facilities kept the congregation down to a comparatively small scale, the tabernacle was fairly well filled.

Several groups of fathers and sons from different churches occupied seats at the front of the building and the sermon was particularly aimed at them.

In the early days of the fire insurance business each company in London maintained its own fire brigade.

WITNESSES FOR DEFENSE CALLED

Testify To Having Seen Bartley Promissory Notes Long Before Murder

Burke Tells of His Life at Jackson and About Liquor Smuggling Transaction

SKOWHEGAN, Me., Feb. 26.—John A. Burke today took the stand and gave his version of what happened on the night of the disappearance of Nelson W. Bartley, for whose murder he has been on trial the past two weeks in the supreme court. He began his story after two additional witnesses for the defense had been examined.

Leo Jackson was allowed to testify that he had seen the Bartley promissory notes and the receipts which the state contends were forged by Burke, although the attorneys for the state had objected yesterday afternoon to such evidence. He said he had been shown the notes by Mrs. Burke about the first of last June.

Jackson's testimony was corroborated by Arthur Libby, who said he had seen the notes at Burke's home before Bartley was killed. The defense contends they would not have been shown while Bartley was living if they had been forgeries.

Burke began his story by telling of his life at Jackson and about the liquor smuggling transaction. He said he had been employed as common woodsman, river driver, railroad man and officer of the law. He went to Jackson about 13 years ago from Fairfield, and was married 10 years later to Miss Flossie Williams.

He first became acquainted with Bartley soon after going to Jackson and the next year entered this employment, doing general work in the Moose River House. He said he had

ASQUITH "COME BACK" NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT

LONDON, Feb. 26.—All political questions are for the moment completely eclipsed by former Premier Asquith's triumphant return to parliament by a majority the size of which astonished everybody. Including his own supporters. The result is universally recognized as a notable personal achievement, even for a statesman with Mr. Asquith's long record, while the restoration of his presence and influence in the councils of parliament is held to be an event destined to have important consequences in the politics of Great Britain and probably the world.

Politicians of all parties talked of nothing yesterday but the possibilities opened by his active resumption of leadership of the opposition which it is generally conceded he will take over forthwith from Sir Donald Maclean, whose tenure has always been regarded more or less temporary. It is understood Mr. Asquith will take his seat in the house next Monday and will probably make his first speech next week during the debate on the second reading of the Irish bill.

Most newspapers heartily welcome the return of the great liberal leader, even those who opposed him politically having good words for him. Their views as to the significance of his election, however, differ widely. Among causes submitted by the press as accounting for the former premier's big majority is the vote cast by women, it being contended on one hand, that women are afraid of the labor movement and, on the other hand that they are irritated by the high prices which they are disposed to attribute to the present government. It is admitted the energies of Lady Bonham Carter, Mr. Asquith's daughter, substantially helped in gaining victory for her father, and it is announced that, as a result of the reelection, the election afforded her political abilities, she has received seven separate invitations to become a candidate for parliament, though she has as yet accepted none of them.

CANCEL INVITATION

TO JANE ADDAMS

TORONTO, Feb. 26.—Newspaper attacks on Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago, because of her alleged attitude toward the allies during the war, has resulted in the cancellation of her invitation to address the social service department of the University of Toronto next month. This announcement was made last night by Prof. R. M. MacIver, acting director of the department.

EMBARGO ON TRADING IN STOCKS AND BONDS FROM COUNTRIES OUTSIDE OF CANADA

TORONTO, Feb. 26.—An embargo on trading in stocks, bonds or other securities from countries outside of Canada went into effect today. This drastic action has been taken by the financial interests of the Dominion at the request of Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, in order to protect the home security market.

Demands Wages Be Doubled

VIENNA, Feb. 26.—Demands have been made by municipal employees, for salaries double those they are at present receiving. The men ask that these salaries be retroactive to January 1, and include all present pension allowances. It is estimated that these demands, if granted, would cost 300,000,000 crowns annually.

Paderewski Through With Concert Stage

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, former Polish premier, will never again appear on the concert platform, nor is he likely to re-enter politics, according to the Vevey, Switzerland, correspondent of the Daily Mail. During an interview with M. Paderewski, the correspondent asked him if it were true he would accept the nomination as president of Poland.

"I don't think I shall be invited to become president," the great pianist replied. "I hope to devote the rest of my life to composing music. I am convinced an era of peace and prosperity for England is begun and feel my political mission is finished."

GENEVA, Feb. 26. (Havas.)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, former Polish premier, who arrived recently in Switzerland, has gone to London for the purpose of laying before the supreme allied council, Polish views concerning peace negotiations with the Russian soviet government.

May Use Strikebreakers in Panama

PANAMA, Feb. 25.—Ranks of the striking colored maintenance of way employees of the Panama canal administration, were swelled to 15,000 today by sympathizers. The crisis is expected tomorrow, when Governor Harding's ultimatum, depriving strikers of their positions and privileges, will become effective. The authorities believe a break in the strike is imminent, but official announcement was made tonight that laborers would be imported to carry on canal operations if the men refused to return to their posts.

To Publish Adriatic Notes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Final decision to publish the exchanges between the American government and the entente premiers on the Adriatic question was reached today. Seven notes in all will be made public late today, at the state department. Officials estimated that the total text would run close to 12,000 words.

Postmen Resort to Snowshoes

HOULTON, Me., Feb. 26.—For the first time this year, postmen making their deliveries were obliged to resort to snowshoes to enable them to get around on account of the huge drifts caused by the storm and gale of yesterday. Roads outside of the town are impassable, being blocked in many places by drifts over 15 feet in height.

All trains on the Bangor and Aroostook road were reported being from three to five hours behind schedule time, due both to snow drifts and frozen switches.

$15,000 in Raisin Whiskey Seized

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 26.—Two fifty gallon stills, 593 boxes of raisins, 19 cases of prunes, 23 barrels of mash and 10 gallons of raisin whiskey valued at between $10,000 and $15,000, were seized by police in a raid on a private dwelling this morning. One man was arrested and turned over to federal authorities.

NOTED EXPLORER DEAD

PARIS, Feb. 26.—(Havas.)—Announcement is made of the death of Marcel Auguste Dieulafoy, a widely known explorer and archaeologist. He was born in Toulouse in 1814 and became famous by uncovering the Palace of Darius and Artaxerxes in Persia in 1886.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to cure a cough, and get the best remedy free.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really a wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membrane, and gives almost immediate relief. Specially for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

Oil production in the United States during 1919 was 356,255,611 barrels, an increase of more than 21,000,000 barrels over the previous year.

Fires Women With Her Enthusiasm After Half Century Suffrage Fight

BY RUTH E. FINLEY

N.E.A. Woman's Page Editor
CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—"I attended the first national woman suffrage convention held in Washington in 1850. I had to come to the last one, and I would have come if they had had to bring me in a wheel chair!"

And she would have, too!

Dr. Olympia Brown of Baltimore, 55 years old, ordained Universalist minister since 1863, and yet preaching upon frequent occasions, does not make statements she does not mean. If her advanced age had made a wheel chair necessary still would she have traveled the 1000 miles she did to attend the first and last annual convention of the National Woman Suffrage association. She is said to have been the only woman present who attended the 1850 convention.

Glorious Victory

"It has been a glorious fight," she cried in her speech before one of the packed meetings. "but, oh, women of America, you in your youth and strength can make it an even more glorious victory!"

And she brought them up standing, 2000 strong, those women delegates from every state in the Union representing the women of America. For little, and old, and wrinkled as she is, her big eyes beneath her soft white hair still shine with the enthusiasm of a great purpose and her voice rings with the conviction of a just cause.

The Washington convention in 1850 was not the first "woman's rights" gathering attended by Dr. Brown. As early as 1815 women met to discuss their "rights" and again in 1841. But it was not until 1849 that Dr. Brown became publicly identified with suffrage.

Quality Not Quantity

"We met in 1845 in Dr. Cheever's church in Boston," she said. "We were hardly a handful of people, and I suppose we were about all the suffragists in the world at the time. But it was a notable company. Among us were Susan B. Anthony, Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Pauline Wright Davis, gorgeous in her purple velvet gown—she was the first woman to lecture on physiology—Fanny Gage, Henry Ward Beecher, Theodore Tilton and just a few more."

From that day to this Dr. Brown has been an ardent suffrage worker. She has made literally thousands of speeches for the cause, and in every section of the land. Holding pastorates in both the east and the west Dr. Brown had unusual opportunities for winning her conviction. Her first church was at Weymouth, Mass.; her last at Mukwonago, Wis.

Canvassed Offices

The story of her part in the long fight is rich in sidelights of the times. "I was visiting a friend in Cleveland, O., in 1861," she said, "where a little body of women were circulating

a petition concerning certain laws. It was to be sent to the state legislature, and the women wanted as many names as possible. They had made a thorough house-to-house canvass, but it was not considered proper for women to even enter business offices, and my friends were a little jealous of their social standing. So I volunteered. I went into every office and place of business in the town. Cleveland was not as big then as it is now, and I secured a long list of signatures.

Length of Aisle

"I remember that on the sheets of paper we used just 53 names could be signed, and when each was filled I passed it onto the preceding one. I was so successful—men couldn't quite kick a woman out of an office even then—that I was asked to make a little canvass of Columbus. I did, and when the women of Ohio presented the petition to their legislature it was so long that when opened on the floor of the house it rolled all over the place and clear down one aisle, like a strip of carpet. The women did not get all the things they asked for, but they were granted many concessions in the way of property rights and the guardianship of children. Since then Ohio has gone far in her legislative reforms, but I am proud to have worked with Ohio women for the earlier of them."

No Wool Pulling

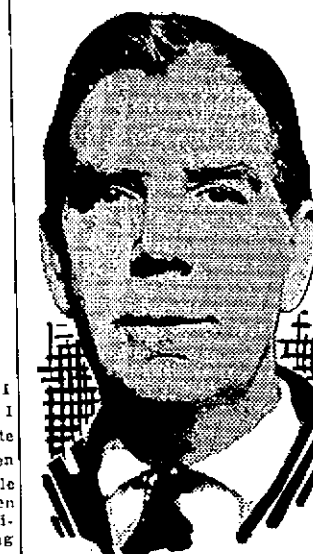

Dr. Brown advocates one moral standard, and believes that it will be established by the new woman vote. Also she believes in independent thinking.

"When Admiral Sims was sent to England during the great war, he says he was told at Washington: 'Don't let the English pull the wool over your eyes.' My message to the new women voters of America is—Don't let either the republican or democratic party pull the wool over your eyes!"

Dr. Brown is neither a republican nor a democrat. Like Mr. Hoover, the party's platform must suit her before she makes up her mind.

CIGARMAKERS' OWN CO-OPERATIVE PLANT

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Smokes—4000 of them a day—are made here in what is said to be the only co-operative cigar factory in America. Three hundred cigarmakers are owners of the factory.

J. M. BARNES

"We are now supplying our brands to 300 stores," said J. Mahlon Barnes, factory, and there are 10 workers employed. This number is being increased at the rate of one each week.

Result of Strike

Barnes has been a delegate to the American Federation of Labor for many years and is a codelegate with Samuel Gompers, both being cigarmakers' union members.

"The factory was started as the result of the cigarmakers' strike here last July," said Barnes. "Each member of the union bought from two to five shares of stock at $10 a share. We bought a little equipment and started a factory room."

Plan Own Factory

The company is incorporated for $50,000 and one-half of this capital is paid in. There now is a move to increase the capitalization to $100,000 in order that the company may buy its own factory building.

The Chicago Co-operative Cigarmakers, Inc., now plans to build a factory in St. Louis and there is talk of another factory in Boston.

RAPS RULE IN IRELAND

British Labor Party Denounces Conditions and Blames Government

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The bill for Irish home rule, long promised by the government, was presented in the house of commons yesterday. The first reading was of the title alone, and was a mere formality, preliminary to taking up the measure at the session today.

The present bill, it is understood, adheres comparatively close to the measure as outlined by Premier Lloyd George. The government's project centers on George in the house on Dec. 22, last, the setting up of two parliaments in Ireland, one for the south and one for the north.

Home rule, as the government hopes to give it to Ireland, is based primarily upon the declaration of the premier in his December speech that "Great Britain cannot accept separation." But the largest opportunity will be given to the Irish people to unite on the constitution of a parliament in the course of time, which will embrace Ireland as a whole.

For the north of Ireland, the area embraced will probably include the six counties mentioned by the premier in his original outline, with possibly some slight modifications, as a consequence of which the northern parliament will be a very much smaller body than the southern organization.

One of the fundamental features of the bill has always been a council representing the two parliaments, and it is understood that this council will derive its powers from the two bodies, which will be responsible for its selection. The proposed legislatures will have extensive powers and also representation in the imperial parliament. Such matters as education, local government, agriculture, transportation, municipal affairs, insurance, and the collection of taxes, will be under the control of these two legislatures, while matters of more serious import to the empire, such as foreign affairs, defense, navigation and the higher judiciary, are reserved for the decision of the imperial government.

Premier Lloyd George announced that the proceeds of land annuities in Ireland would be given as a free gift to the two parliaments, and estimates that this would amount to 3,000,000 pounds for the year. This sum or other equitable provision will be made for maintenance of the parliaments, if the government's bill is accepted.

The secretary of state for Ireland again introduced last session's education bill for Ireland at Tuesday night's session.

Labor Commission's Report

The report of the commission of labor men who recently investigated conditions in Ireland is a strong denunciation of what is characterized as the British misrule of Ireland. This, the report declares, "would drive any spirited nation into deep-seated and dangerous discontent," adding that "where the administration is not merely unintelligent it appears to be deliberately provocative."

The report sets forth that Ireland has become utterly estranged, and the Irish problem, as the labor delegation sees it, is a problem of political pathology.

Abundant evidence exists, the report finds, of the need of action with regard to social matters, such as housing, wages and education, but the political issue, it holds, obscures these questions.

"The economic regeneration of Ireland, which would help materially to destroy existing animosities and speedily efface the memory of historic wrongs," the report adds, "cannot be successfully achieved unless and until the political problem is solved. The fundamental necessity, therefore, is a change in the political system."

The report consists largely of detailed examples of the "senseless attitude" of the administration's representative measures with the result that "every institution, of which the British citizen is so proud—a free press, freedom of speech, liberty of a subject and trial by jury—is a thing of the past in a large part of Ireland."

The report continues: "While unreservedly condemning political outrages, such as the shooting of policemen, we are bound to say that no evidence is forthcoming that such shootings preceded the application of the policy of vigorous repression."

The forum idea may have taken root in other places in the country but it is in its infancy in Lowell, as shown last evening when an audience numbering seven people gathered at the Community club to hear Professor David D. Vaughn of Boston University speak on "American Ideals." Before the lecture was concluded the audience had grown to 14, five of whom were women.

The meeting was the second in the community forum series under the auspices of Lowell Community Service Inc., and while the weather was against a large attendance, it is fair to say that a thorough program of education will be necessary if widespread and general interest in the forum idea is to be created. The handful of men and women present, however, did not deter Professor Vaughn and he entered into a hearty discussion of his subject and brought out many things well worth hearing. He was presented by Otto Hockmeyer, chairman of the executive committee.

Professor Vaughn spoke on six American ideals, which he considers of paramount importance to the life of a good citizen, to wit: The ideals of truth, justice, freedom, equality, fraternity and service.

In connection with the ideal of truth, the speaker pleaded for open and receptive minds and the public forum where both sides of every question may be heard. The ideal of truth has come down to us from the Pilgrims, who are characterized by Carlisle as "the greatest bastion of democracy ever to sail the seas."

The ideal of freedom is fettered, Professor Vaughn said, inasmuch as we are slaves to many things such as disease, poverty and custom. We have freedom in a great many things, he said, and the word "Liberty" is before us every day on each of our coins, but there are some ideals of freedom we do not have. "We thought it a terrible thing that $5,000 of our young men should be left dead on the fields of France, but what about the 200,000 persons who died from the disease of tuberculosis in this country during the same months? And these lost lives might have been saved."

"Many of us in the world are slaves to custom. Even today in the smaller towns and cities of China, the feet of babies are being bound and deformed because of custom. We are slaves to poverty. Without money our freedom is curtailed. It may be shown in a family that wants to give its children education but cannot. It may crop out in the life of a young man graduating from high school at the head of his class, with his eyes set on a college course, but mother and sisters must be supported and he turns to the life of a drudge."

The speaker brought in the equal suffrage question in his discussion of the ideal of justice and said that he welcomed the fact that women were coming to the aid of men in making the nation's laws. He quoted "Where did the men of America learn so much about civil government? From the women school-teachers." "If women are smart enough to teach men, they are capable of helping us make our laws," said the speaker.

The hearty greeting Roosevelt gave his fellow men was cited by Professor Vaughn as an example of the ideal of equality. "It is necessary that men be recognized as men no matter what their station in life may be," he said. "I recall a story which appeared in the Chicago Tribune about the death of a man known as the Merchant Prince. Any man can get that name who gives a newspaper hundreds of dollars every month for many years for advertising contracts. The fact that he paid his shop girls $2.50 and $3.50 a week was forgotten. His will also was most despicable for it was so worded as to allow his huge fortune to fall to his grandchild at the age of 50 years, who at that time would get $100,000,000 without doing one single act of service to merit it."

"The fifth great American ideal is that of fraternity," Mr. Vaughn said. "Just as much as man needs social relationship, so a nation needs relations with other nations in the form of an internationalism."

The sixth and last ideal discussed was the ideal of service—what man accomplishes for his fellow men. The speaker said a new idea is creeping into business, the idea of service to the merchant, rather than the concern selling the goods. "We measure people by the service they perform," he said. "I might bring a European lord into this room and tell you he is a member of nobility and you would show but little interest. Even if I should add that he had millions of dollars you would not bat an eye, but instead, nine out of every 10 Americans would ask, 'what did he do?'"

"But, supposing I should bring Thomas Edison here. You would rise to salute him, for he is a man of service. The world can never repay Edison in dollars and cents for his service to mankind. You can't give him suits of clothes because he won't wear them and you might give him 1000 beds and he wouldn't use them, because he works practically all night. The only reason this community center has been started here in Lowell is for service, service to the city and all its people."

WIN FIGHT FOR $3,000,000 ESTATE

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Nine persons after a long search and an ensuing legal controversy, it was announced today, had established their rights as heirs to share in the $3,000,000 estate of William P. Cowan, former president of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, who died intestate at his country home at Wheaton, Ill., in 1915. They will receive approximately $200,000 each. The youngest heir is 4, and the oldest, 80, and all live in Michigan except Henry B. Stillwell, aged 72, of Springfield, Mass. The heirs all are cousins.

BUDAPEST, Feb. 26.—Hungary's peace delegation at Neuilly, France, has asked that Hungarian prisoners of war in Siberia be repatriated, and have asked the United States and Japan for a loan to carry on the work. Despatches from the delegates received here say they are virtually imprisoned in the Chateau Madrid at Neuilly, being allowed to go about the town only when accompanied by a detective.

GREAT SPORT

Amateurs Shoot Wireless Messages All Over Country

Wireless messages these days are buzzing away over Lowell just as fast as amateurs and professionals are capable of deciphering them. The restrictions which were put on during the war by the government, now removed, prevented any extensive developments along this line in Lowell, but now that all bans have been lifted a corps of young men of this city have organized under the name of the Lowell Radio club, mention of which has already been made in these columns. There are other amateurs who have not joined any club and who have perfected apparatus that will send to great distances and receive from even more distant points. Besides the large sets, many small indoor plants, that are effective for short distances, have been installed throughout the city, some of them known only to particular friends.

The Lowell young men interested in the game of wireless have pleasing entertainment in listening-in on the conversation of the air. They have become members of the American Radio Relay league, an association of amateurs which makes it possible for them to deliver messages, free of charge, in all parts of the United States. Hundreds of messages are handled. These young masters of the air seem to entangle all kinds of information in their aerials. Word that "Father is coming," that "Brother is eloped," and any other messages are relayed through the amateurs to their proper addressee, anywhere in the country.

The most powerful stations of the city have deciphered messages from Nauen, Germany, one of the largest in the world; from France; from Stevengor, Norway, and from other far distant government installations. When President Wilson was returning from the peace conference about one year ago, Arthur Davis of Holden street, tuned his instrument to catch the president's messages as his boat was leaving Brest, France, and followed his talk from the vessel throughout the voyage, knowing just when the president arrived in American waters.

A few of those who have intercepted flashes from Germany are Sterling Pratt, colonel of the high school regiment; Bradford, Dunn of 375 Parker street; John McMaster of 18 Fairfield street; Ralph Scott of 235 Foster street, vice president of the Radio club; and Everett Taylor of 156 Winthrop ave., president of the Radio club.

The vice president has intercepted S.O.S. calls at various times but the boys are bound by law to keep all such information secret. Government rules regulate what is permissible to divulge to the public.

There are 34 members in the Lowell Radio club, all licensed by the government to send and receive. The ages of the men average around 23 or 24, but the extremes are 14 and 76. The quarters of this wireless association are in the Dartmouth building on Merrimack street, and they will soon be fitted out with comfortable furniture and also with a large wireless set. Part of this station is already installed, but finishing touches have to be given before it is ready for action.

An effort is being made by the radio boys to round up all the fellows in the city who are interested in wireless and to enlist them in their organization. If such young men wish to have their stations on a wireless map which the club is now making in charge of the work. Their map already shows the situation of 26 powerful stations in this city.

In the opinion of American officials in Italy, more Italians will emigrate to the United States this year than in the record year of 1915, when 375,000 left that country for America.

EAT

What You Will—When You Will—
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets
Help Digest the Meal

Good food in itself is harmless. The usual reason stomach troubles arise is due to faulty digestion brought about by overwork, sickness, overeating, late hours, etc.

The best way to correct faulty stomach troubles due to digestive mistakes is to do what nature wants. All that nature usually needs in such cases is a little assistance to do this work. This is why doctors tell you to diet. Nature is then compelled to aid herself. You do not then overwork her when she is already exhausted.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into your stomach just like food. They help digest food, and thus, when the next meal is eaten, the system is better prepared to do its work without assistance.

By following this practice many have corrected their stomach troubles, and have conquered the old "burden" of indigestion.

Always take a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after meals or just before bed time. By doing this you will be acting wisely and playing safe.

Go to your druggist anywhere and buy a box now. Price 50 cents.—Adv.

CONG. ROGERS' BILL

(Special to The Sun)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—Representative John Jacob Rogers yesterday introduced a bill providing that after the ratification of the suffrage amendment no woman who is an American citizen shall lose her citizenship by marrying an alien and that no alien woman shall acquire American citizenship by marrying an American man. It is understood that this measure will have the cordial support of the great women's organizations of the United States. Discussing his proposal, Mr. Rogers said today:

"One relic of the dark ages in our federal laws is the provision that an American woman, whether she likes it or not, must lose her American citizenship if she marries a foreigner. Similarly, and with equally little justification, an alien woman acquires American citizenship by the mere fact of marrying an American. Of course these provisions are in our law for historical reasons. They date from the 'good old days' when a woman was a chattel and not a human being and had no rights or privileges before the law. But times have changed. The adoption of the suffrage amendment, which needs only four more states to become effective, removes the last trace of political and civil distinction between the sexes. If a woman is good enough to vote under the Constitution of the United States she is good enough to stand on her own legs in the matter of citizenship. If an American woman chooses to marry an alien there is no more reason why she should automatically take his citizenship than there is why he should take hers. On the other hand if an American woman chooses to marry an alien there is no more reason why

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home. At little cost. Secure from your druggist a ounce of Parment (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping is the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.—Adv.

Clean Up Poison Soaked Kidneys Advices Dr. Carey

Don't flush your kidneys with harsh cathartics, says Dr. Carey, they are too frail and delicately constructed to treat them rough. For 40 years I have been prescribing Marshbrook for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. If you have specks floating before the eyes, pain under eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or a headache you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's Marshbrook right away. It has conquered thousands of cases of kidney and bladder disease and is the medicine you can always depend upon.

IMPORTANT—Dr. Daniel G. Carey has been practicing medicine for many years and his great prescription, "Marshbrook," has cured thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. It is not a patent medicine and is only sold through drug stores in order to accommodate his patients. Fred Howard can supply you. —Adv.

"The Ham What Am"

"The Quality Never Varies"

STAR Ham affords the basis for a variety of savory dishes.
Bake it—boil it—broil it—fry it—hot or cold, its juicy tenderness, smooth grain and delicious flavor assure it a hearty welcome and keen appreciation at any meal.

The Stockinet Covering, to which the pungent odor of hickory smoke always clings, intensifies the distinctive Star flavor, preserves the rich, sweet juices and prevents the ham from drying out and shrinking after it leaves the smokehouse.

You can easily identify Star Ham by the Stockinet Covering, bearing the blue and yellow Armour Oval Label.
Star Bacon also carries the Oval
Label—known the world over as a guarantee of superior quality.

HELD "FATHER AND SON" BANQUETS

"Father and Son" banquets were held last evening at the Elliot-Union and Calvary Baptist churches, after which the boys and their fathers went to the East Merrimack street tabernacle for the service conducted by Evangelist George T. Stephens. About 40 were present at the Elliot church, where mothers of the boys served a substantial supper. The general arrangements were in charge of Edwin T. Shaw and Thomas R. Williams of the Y.M.C.A., who developed the father and son idea in Lowell. Donald Fletcher was toastmaster and there were 10-minute talks by Raymond Hahlgren, representing the sons; A. K. Whitcomb, representing the fathers; and by James Sykes, who spoke on the relationship of fathers and sons within the church.

The attendance at the Calvary Baptist church numbered 50. An excellent supper was served by women of the church and prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. Asa R. Dills. Following post-prandial exercises, the party went to the tabernacle in a special car.

During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1921, Japan, it is said, will spend more than $300,000,000 on naval and military expansion.

THREE LOWELL DOGS RIBBON WINNERS

The Boston dog show, this week, was one of the most successful affairs of its kind for several years. The attendance was far above that at any other show, both the daily and nightly exhibitions and displays drawing a large quota of Massachusetts men interested in full-bred dogs.

Three Lowell dogs came back with ribbons of prize recognition. A Boston terrier owned by Samuel Jacques of Gorham street and a Beagle bound owned by Mr. Moses Pickles of 103 High street won rewards. Dr. Donahue, a resident of Tewksbury, carried home two firsts and a second which were won by his Boston terrier in competition with terriers from all parts of the state.

Lowell Girl Greets
General Pershing

Among the Lowell people who journeyed to Boston yesterday to greet General Pershing, A.E.F., command-in-chief, was Miss Nellie Snow, chief operator of the Lowell telephone exchange and for many months an overseas service woman. With Miss Helen Seelye of the Boston toll exchange, she approached the general. "Just where was it I saw you last?" Gen. Pershing queried smiling. "Why, I was your chief operator at Chaumont," replied Miss Snow. Hearty greetings and a few reminiscent moments followed and the two young women moved on to make room for others who wished to grip the general's hand.

NANKING UNIVERSITY FUND
All students of Boston University, alumni, present attendants, or prospective students, who have contributed to the Nanking University fund, will be interested to know that the quota of $3000 lacks only $400 of fulfillment today. Those who have not learned of this campaign should know that the trustees of the university are planning to establish a section of Boston university in Nanking, China, to offer to the Chinese the same opportunities in business education that are extended in their courses in administration in this country. Accordingly they enlisted the aid of the students in raising a sum of $3000 to be added to their own appropriation.

Petrograd, Russia, is now estimated to have a civil population of 420,000. Its population before the war was more than 1,250,000.

The United States has only one doctor to every 700 persons. Furthermore, the number of doctors seems to be decreasing in proportion to the population, which is increasing by some 2,000,000 a year.

Oriental folk are very superstitious about an elephant's sneeze, and believe that to hear one brings good luck. In Siberia a winter rainbow sometimes lasts all day. It is caused by fine particles of snow suspended in the air.

Gertrude Lamarre, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anselme Lamarre, 25 Main street, Sanford, Me., was saved from his by the prompt action of her mother who administered Dr. Tru's Elixir.

Mrs. Lamarre wrote the following to Dr. J. F. Tru & Co.: "My daughter Gertrude, had dizzy spells and could not even go out for she always complained of being sick. She used your Elixir (Dr. Tru's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller). She never had any fits since. I feel very grateful to you."

Symptoms of worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and fully belly, with occasional griping and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, eructing of the teeth, little red points sticking out on the tongue starting during sleep, slow fever.

Dr. Tru's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family Laxative and Worm Expeller, since 1851—over 68 years' reputation. Everyone can improve their health by simply looking after the bowels—a pure herb, laxative which Dr. Tru's Elixir in will promptly relieve all worry and discomfort. AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

Get instant relief with
"Pape's Cold Compound"

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a cold and ends all griping misery.

The very first dose opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of your head, stops nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness, stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance. Tastes nice. Contains no quinine. Insist on Pape's! —Adv.

To Remove Discolored,
Coarse or Chapped Skin

If your skin is chapped, rough or harsh, dab a liberal amount of mercolized wax on the face and allow it to remain over night. When you wash off the wax in the morning, the flaky, almost invisible particles of cuticle come with it. Repeating this daily, the entire outer film skin is soon absorbed, but so gradually, there's not the slightest hurt or inconvenience. Even the ugliest complexion yields to this treatment. The underlying skin which forms the new complexion is so fresh and youthful looking you'll marvel at the transformation. It's the only reliable way to actually discard an aged, faded, freckled, blotchy or weather-beaten complexion. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store, is sufficient in most cases. —Adv.

WAKEFIELD WILL SEND STRONG TEAM HERE

Wakefield high will send a track team of 16 men, led by Capt. Burke, one of the best long distance men in the greater-Boston district, to the Lowell annex Saturday night for the dual meet between the two schools. The list of Wakefield entries is at hand and shows Capt. Burke entered in the 30-yard dash, shot put, high jump, 100-yard run and the mile. Levine, a brother of the famous Abe Levine, well known to Lowell track followers, will also be a strong contender in the long run.

Coach Haggerty is having a hard job getting his men out for practice this week, which is a vacation period. Yesterday's practice was somewhat curtailed because of the absence of several men, but he will make an effort to get the entire team on the boards tomorrow.

Wakefield will take a lot of running to beat. The meet ought to be one of the most interesting of the year inasmuch as there will be no standing broad jump. The event to be staged follows: 30 yard dash, 100 yard run, 600 yard run, 1000 yard run, one mile, shot put, running high jump, 45-yard hurdles and 1200-yard relay. This program should produce sufficient competition to satisfy the most ardent fan and a big crowd of spectators is expected.

knowledge of the work done by one another. The Social Service League has almost completed plans for the organization of a club of all individuals in the city, men and women, engaged in social research whether belonging to an agency or working independently.

The aim of such a proposition is not to be judged as meaning that such organizations in the city will work more harmoniously together, for there has not been the least bit of friction in the past, but that it will enable these people to become acquainted, to become friends and afford them the opportunity of blending their efforts by co-operative consultation. The club as planned for now, would hold monthly meetings.

Jenkins said that he and his brother Fred were motoring toward Lowell one evening during the early part of the winter, and while on the Lawrence boulevard near Kenwood the machine broke down. He and his brother alighted and were attempting to locate the trouble when Grondino's motorcycle came along at a fast clip and struck Fred, breaking his leg. Then the side car "picked him up," he said, and carried him along.

He forced Grondino to turn his machine around, he said, and after arranging to have his injured brother removed to the hospital, rode to the police headquarters with Grondino.

During the case it was brought out that Grondino had had several glasses of something stronger than 2.75 per cent, before starting on his trip to the down river city.

William A. Guerin, the Lowell youth arrested recently on a charge of being implicated in the robbing of Joseph M. Mello last summer, had his case placed on file after Deputy Downey informed the court that the young man from the United States navy, and a warrant for his return to the naval authorities at Hingham had been received. Guerin was then placed in the custody of the arresting officers who will return him to the naval officials.

Charged with assault with a knife on Henry F. Douglas Feb. 23, Clifford G. Paine pleaded not guilty and was granted a continuance until tomorrow. Bail was set at $200.

TAKE YOUR CHILDREN TO MACARTNEY'S BARBER SHOP—LET "ARTHUR" CUT THEIR HAIR

72 MERRIMACK STREET

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinaki.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash and I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."—Mrs. A. KWARCINAKI, 3627 W. Oakdale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

ON DEAR OLD BROADWAY

Griffith, Barrymore, Neilan, Drew and Rachel Keep Things Going

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—While New York cities were sleeping, D. W. Griffith, at Mount Vernon, about 12 miles from New York, was trying out his latest production, "Fires of Love," on an unsuspecting audience. It brings Clarence Seymour, of "Cutie Beautiful" fame, back to the screen. "Fires of Love" is a story of the South Sea Islands and tells a romantic and dramatic story of a human derelict in the person of a beachcomber, a youth from civilization, and a white girl born on the islands and refusing to abide by the doctrines of Christianity.

We proclaim "Fires of Love," as one of the greatest achievements of Griffith's career.

Lionel Barrymore became a martyr in more ways than one this week. At the Rivoli, his screen version of "The Copperhead," a plan of the Civil war and Abraham Lincoln, he was made to suffer that the nation might live. But that was only on the screen.

About 36 hours after Lionel was made a screen martyr, some naughty thief swiped his stock of liquor valued at $10,000 in this day of h. c. of drinking. When Lionel went into the cellar, he threw back his hands and borrowed a phrase from Sir Ethel: "That's all there is—there isn't any more!"

The eyes of moviedom are watching Marshall Neilan, producer of "Daddy Long Legs," whose first independent picture, "The River's End," is rapidly nearing completion. Such stars as Marjorie Daw, Lewis Stone and Jane Novak are playing the important roles and a delicate care representing six months of production expense will characterize the offering. Neilan is the youngest producer in the history of the film game.

After abstaining for two years, John Drew came back to Broadway and to the stage in a play by Rupert Hughes, and entitled "The Cat Bird." John was the cat bird—in other words an old professor. It should be a good lesson to Rupert Hughes, this cat bird of his. Why Rupe didn't know that professors aren't funny, and that their jokes are laughed at only because pupils are kidding them, is beyond conception.

A new play in which Rachel Crothers, the authoress, starred herself, entitled, "He and She," opened this week at the Little theatre. As usual, poor papa and mama were involved in a lot of unhappiness on account of $100,000.

At the right time, little darter, played by Faire Binney, sister of Constance, tears home from boarding school to inform the folks she has fallen in love with a taxi driver. Mom and pop are shocked. Why? We can't understand. If the fellow was a New York taxi driver he could shower on his wife the wealth of a princess and then some.

"Thou Shalt Not Spend More Than Thou Earnst." Sounds like a commandment, and it is. "The Thirteenth Commandment," in which Ethel Clayton appeared all week at the Rialto.

TOWNBLOUSE REJOICES IN "HAREM" HEM

By CORA MOORE

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Fashion, refused to let the blouse go the way of most fashions—into oblivion—so it has made an entirely new place for itself. Instead of being an inconsequential, nondescript sort of garment, it now makes all sorts of pretensions to conventionality, especially through the Townblouses, which have many alluring features that never were vouchsafed the original "separate waist."

Just by way of example, here, illustrated, is Miss Jants in a Townblouse of cartridge silk, the finished army silk, which is causing much commotion among designers. The blouse is fast color with collar and tight band cuffs of a deeper tone, and the particular feature is that the blouse has a "harem" hem. It turns under precisely in the manner of the Turkish skirts and then, in addition, has little let-in pockets lest in the folds at either side just below the French belt.

to correct, but that department is seldom equipped to discover all of them or to associate them with the cause of the accident.

The "human engineers" researches will lead him to consider occupational poisonings when the processes suggest such possibilities. The physical reclamation of workers in hazardous occupations will result in the accumulation of scientific facts of known value with which to replace the oftentimes erroneous opinions now held regarding the dangers and hazards of certain occupations.

In addition to caring for the accidents that occur, the "human engineer" should repair the temporary defects of the workers, which tend to reduce their effectiveness to a considerable extent. Many times workers report for duty with headaches, indigestion, beginning colds and other seemingly trifling ailments, which can be relieved or eliminated by prompt application of therapeutic measures. By eliminating them a day's production can be added to the factory output and the worker will have the added satisfaction of knowing that his small needs are cared for in a sympathetic manner. He will also appreciate the fact that there is "one on" to whom he can go for consultation and advice regarding such minor ailments as may develop in the course of the day's work. The prompt attention to minor ailments will prevent infections, which always result in much lost time, lost wages and lowered production.

LOWELL AND SALEM HIGH SCHOOLS TO DEBATE U. S. INTERVENTION IN MEXICO

Salem high school has submitted questions to the debating team of the Lowell high school from which to choose the subjects for their inter-school debate in Salem on March 26. The subjects proposed include the Plumb plan for the management of railroad affairs and intervention in Mexico. After the discussion with their coaches the Lowell team finally decided that the question on Mexico offered the best possibilities.

The question is: "Resolved, that the United States should intervene in Mexico." Lowell will uphold the negative side. Already the Lowell team is hard at work in intensive study and reading about the history of the intervention.

The boys who shovel snow are reaping a great harvest, but they report that it is hard work.

The allies are not likely to drive the Turk from Europe. He will be allowed to remain, as in a former case, for strategic reasons. It was to guard England against Russian power that Turkey was allowed to hold Constantinople and keep the Black sea closed ever since the Crimean war.

The Canadian government has taken over the Grand Trunk railroad, thus making two government owned transcontinental lines. Now we may expect to see Canada boom. The emigration from the United States has already enlivened business along the border.

THE STORM

If, as the farmers tell us, the heavy snow fall is the poor man's fertilizer, Nature is certainly very generous to the poor men this winter. The people who have to keep the streets clear consider themselves victims of some meteorological miscalculation or disorganization of the forces operating through atmospheric instrumentalities to regulate and maintain uniform distribution and precipitation of the congealed vapor in accordance with the thermodynamic conditions governed by climatic, solar, terrestrial, lunar and planetary influences over which the inhabitants of our mundane sphere have but passive and involuntary cognizance. Is it any wonder, therefore, that the street cars are delayed and that our street department does not function in the old fashioned method of fighting an old fashioned storm?

ENFORCING PROHIBITION

It appears that certain liquor interests are determined to have the supreme court of the United States test the constitutionality of the Volstead act for the enforcement of the prohibition amendment. One of the legal questions raised against the act is, that congress has not absolute supremacy in the enforcement of the prohibition law and that each state within its own boundaries has co-ordinate power with the federal government in whatever steps are taken for the enforcement of the law.

An interesting situation has arisen in Michigan, where some local officials refused to recognize the federal authority as exercised for the enforcement of the prohibition law.

The enforcement provision of the 18th amendment reads as follows: "The congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation."

It seems that the stand taken in some of the states is, that the federal authorities cannot enforce the law within the limits of any state unless the government of that state is willing to concur. If that supposition has any weight in law, then the legal provisions for the enforcement of prohibition would fail wherever the state authorities refused to concur.

In due time, however, the supreme court of the United States will clear up all the legal points raised by the opponents of prohibition so that thereafter, the whole measure will be thoroughly understood and the points in controversy finally settled.

THE BUDGET?

The senate has got as far as a sub-committee agreement on a proposed bill for a national budget. Senator McCormick is responsible for it. It makes the secretary of the treasury in effect a "minister of finance," with full authority under the president to review all items of all departments and full responsibility for all items passed on to congress for appropriations. It would take from the treasury—very sensibly—all side lines, such as the public health service, the coast guard, the bureau of war risk insurance and similar bureaus, which have no connection with money-raising and spending activities.

It is proposed to create, under the secretary of the treasury, a budget bureau with a commissioner at the head, whose duty it will be to co-ordinate the work of providing sources of revenue to conform to the budget requirements; to investigate waste and duplication in the government departments, rec-

FREE PUBLICITY

Asked as to the amount of free publicity matter received daily by this paper and what use is made of it, we feel it is but right to expose the extent to which various lines of free advertising bombard the newspaper offices without any result whatever.

How much of this stuff is received?

Well, in yesterday's mail, which brought an average amount, there was copy enough to fill a page and a half of The Sun, about a page and a half from the department of agriculture at Washington, two pages from the American Association of Forestry, a page and a half or perhaps two pages of printed and typewritten matter in behalf of presidential candidates, chiefly, Governor Lowden of Illinois, James W. Gerard, General Wood and General Pershing; one page made up of miscellaneous articles, relative to railroads, picture censorship, legislative matters before the general court, college and church drives, memorial drives, America's gift to France drive, appeals for the children of Central Europe, and various articles of political propaganda but none of the paid description.

It is hardly safe to throw any communication away without opening, and it requires at least half an hour to open the envelopes and glance at the contents in order to see that nothing that is desirable for publication goes into the waste basket.

How much of this matter is used?

Well, about one-half of one per cent and that has some news value, or otherwise has reference to some worthy movement which the editor feels should receive general support in the interests of patriotism, justice and charity.

One of the most aggravating features of this publicity matter is that sent out from the publicity agencies of large corporations. These agencies are well paid for their work in flooding newspaper offices with their output, always prepared as "news" and enclosed in large envelopes marked in flaming letters of red, "News—Rush." Sometimes as many as four or five such letters reach the office on the same day, enclosing the same identical matter, thus indicating a duplication of effort at headquarters, together with a most culpable waste of white paper and clerical labor.

The agencies sending out this matter are fooling their clients. They must imagine that editors have nothing to do but read their stuff and that the average newspaper can be gulled by such fake methods. In this they are mistaken.

It is refreshing to find that Adjutant General Conrad, chief of the publicity bureau of the United States army at New York, has decided to investigate this waste of white paper and the imposition upon the press. He feels that any publicity matter sent out by his bureau, unless it contains real live news matter, should be paid for.

It is really reassuring to find that there is even one man in the government departments who does not regard the newspapers as eleemosynary institutions. Yet the press is willing to give the army and navy very liberal notices free of charge. The government departments have been among the worst offenders in this matter of flooding the newspapers with publicity material. The bureau for the vocational training of disabled soldiers and the bureau of education have issued a vast volume of publicity matter, very little of which ever reaches the readers.

Now, if these and all other departments learned to condense their matter and issue to the press only brief statements having some news value, they might secure publicity which they cannot obtain by their present methods.

One of the departments at Washington, we cannot now recall which, adopted such a strict policy of saving white paper, that on all the publicity material sent out, they used both sides of the paper. That showed the proper spirit, but such a worthy example counts for little where the rule is lavish, we might almost say criminal waste of paper in a vain effort to secure free publicity.

SEEN AND HEARD

Wonder what John Elliot would talk about today if he should come back to that old house in Old Ferry road?

A Regular Man

A farm hand who had worked every day in the week from dawn till late at night, finishing the chores by lantern light, went to the farmer at the end of the month and said: "I'm going to quit. You promised me a steady job of work."

"Well, haven't you got one?" was the astonished reply.

"No," said the worker. "There are three or four hours every night I don't have anything to do except foot away my time sleeping."—Buffalo Times.

Balm for Crown

When Gen. Pershing arrived in Washington after his return from France he had with him a trunk containing a mass of medals, citations and ribbons and the correspondence concerning it. Attaches of the war department were detailed to go through the material. They had not gone far when they ran across this memorandum which bore the signature of one of the general's aides and a date several months old:

"The king of — was here yesterday and left a couple of medals."

In one corner of the memorandum, over the initials of the C-in-C, was this penciled notation:

"Write him something pretty."—The Home Sector.

The Optimistic View

It's been a long, cold, hard winter, but that probably means an early, warm, delightful spring. The seasons do about balance, take it year with year. There is no doubt that the steady cold winter months are the most wholesome and healthful for those who are well clothed and well fed. They are good, too, for Mother Earth, for under the snow covering the wheat and herbs and grasses and perennials are nestling snugly, huddling their strength for a rich blossoming and harvesting later. It's reasonable weather, folks, and is needed as a setting for spring, summer and autumn just as the rains are needed that the sunshine may show on green expanses and wealth of coloring; just as the clouds are needed to make the sunrise and sunset glorious; in less than a month spring will be officially here, March 21, and if the winter strings out its snow and cold until then, so much the more assurance of a warm, balmy consistent spring to tell again.

IN BED TWO YEARS AS RESULT OF PNEUMONIA

"I was confined to my bed for 2 years from the effects of plural pneumonia. It left me with an awful cough and bronchial trouble. Was treated by 12 different doctors with no apparent benefit."

"I had heard of Mils Emulsion but had no faith in anything. A friend urged me, and I tried it. From the first, I commenced to feel better. I have now taken seven bottles and am feeling fine. Have no cough or bronchial trouble, have regained my flesh and strength and am doing all the work for a family of seven. I never felt better in my life."—Mrs. Dell Stevens, 46 Fulton St., Phoenix, N. Y.

A run-down body invites disease. Let Mils Emulsion build you up as it has others. It costs nothing to try.

Mils Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physic. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Mils Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whose sickness has weakened and is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Truly wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Mils Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles honestly with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price $2.00 and $1.20 per bottle. The Mils Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind., sold by druggists everywhere. Sold and guaranteed by Fred Howard, 127 Central St., Adv.

Squirrel in the Cage

I looked at a squirrel in the white of the wheel of his cage and he showed me the act and the fact of our partisan age. For he entered his wheel and he cried, as he ran, "I'm for progress forever! I'm leading the way. It is fatal for men to be calm and contented. We've got to keep moving, or else we're doomed. So forward forever!" he panted and ran. And he finished, exhausted, just where he began.

Next day, with his confidence wholly unshaken, he said, "It is true I was slightly mistaken. My intent was all right, but the way I was headed in a safe and sane squirrel was a thing to be dreaded. So he got in and ran (on the very same track) But this time he turned the wheel end-lessly back!" "Safe and sane, safe and sane!" he proclaimed as he ran. But he stirred not a jot from the place he began.

I laughed at the squirrel and his lack of acumen; I laugh at him still, he's so funnyly human. Turning this way and that, just one thing we have proved—We have run both directions and yet haven't moved! And we'll never "get somewhere" unless we are free. With our paws on the ground or our feet in the air, for friend, you're the squirrel in the white and you've no right to rage. As long as you go penned in the cage, in your partisan cage!

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Even with a preponderance of cold and damp weather, the heating of the large tabernacle in East Merrimack street has been entirely adequate. Ten coal burning furnaces, bought from Camp Devens, keep the interior of the building comfortably warm, and with the floor covering of baled shavings, the temperature has been sufficient no matter how cold outside. No water from melting snow has seeped into the building and at no point is there evidence caused by snow accumulation. All new wood was used in the construction and so well was the building put together that it will withstand all elements and this in spite of the fact that it is wholly temporary.

It is not far-fetched to say that we are passing through a history-making winter, one which will stand out in the memory of things unusual and which we will be able to recall to the succeeding generations as one of the worst New England ever has experienced. For the first time in the annals of the local trolley company, Nashua has been cut off by electric service for more than a month and will continue so until spring when warm weather will thaw the ice from the rails beyond Collinsville, Woburn and Lexington also will be cut off from Billerica until spring for both roads are buried so deep under a frozen mantle that the street car men will not attempt to cut them out.

The abolition of the waiting room in Merrimack square not only has caused discomfort for the people, but also for business men around the square. It has forced waiting passengers—and they have had to be "good waiters"—to seek shelter in those stores or business places that are kind enough to allow

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—Gen. John J. Pershing, father and leader of the American expeditionary force, came to Boston yesterday.

Royally welcomed and acclaimed by the citizens, greeted in behalf of the state by Governor Coolidge, in behalf of the city by Mayor Peters, he paid his first tribute last night to the Yankee Division and its erstwhile commander, Gen. Edwards, commander of the department of the northeast.

Speaking last night at a banquet given him by Mayor Peters in the Copley-Plaza, a banquet attended by the governor, the lieutenant-governor and many of Boston's most distinguished citizens, he mentioned the YD for the first time—the YD and its commander.

"Your distinguished department commander in charge of the 25th Division," he said tersely, "was always devoted to his cause and the service he rendered over there need no comment from me."

Gen. Pershing apparently won Boston with his smile. From the moment he stepped from the federal express in the South station, at 10 o'clock, yesterday morning, until the banquet at the Copley-Plaza ended at 11 last night, not an untoward incident occurred.

Every detail of the program arranged for him was carried out successfully.

Thousands met him at the station. More thousands cheered his progress to the Watertown Arsenal, where he first went. Then still more thousands cheered his progress back to the Somerset club, where he and his staff had lunch as guests of Gen. Edwards.

Afterwards, the Massachusetts legislature, sitting in joint convention, paid him the highest honor, inviting him to address it. The senators and representatives had more cheers for him. And the gallery, jammed with men and women, added to the enthusiasm of his welcome at the state house.

Still later many ex-service men, some 600 or 700 of them, greeted him at the Cadeau armory, and by the enthusiasm of their welcome more than made up for the scarcity of their numbers.

Then last, before the banquet, he was greeted by Boston's school children, thousands of them, all that could be picked into Tremont Temple. Their greeting, perhaps, was the most enthusiastic of all, the most spontaneous. Waving American flags they cheered and cheered him until it seemed that the roof of the great auditorium must burst open from the volume of the noise.

Truly Boston's welcome to the father and leader of the American expeditionary force may be said to have been a royal one.

In greeting the A.M.P. leader, Gen. Pershing said: "As commander of the northeastern soldiers of my command, I have the honor, Gen. Pershing, to extend every welcome to you, General of the Armies of the United States."

ADOPTED SON OF VICE PRESIDENT DEAD

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Morrison Marshall, the young adopted son of Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, died here early today, after a short illness. He was suffering from pneumonia.

The child was three years old, and had been a member of the vice president's family since June, 1917. He never was legally adopted. It was stated today. He was taken into the vice president's home when he was 10 months old from a diet kitchen here, where his mother, who was employed as a chambermaid, left him in care, as her duties occupied her both day and night.

Vice President and Mrs. Marshall have no children of their own and the little boy was first taken to their apartments in a hotel for a visit by Mrs. Marshall, who was touched by the child's plight. The vice president and Mrs. Marshall became so attached to him that with the consent of the mother, they made him a member of the family.

Buenos Aires, Wednesday, Feb. 25.—James W. R. Macleay, British minister to Argentina, has informed this government that Great Britain has no objections to the sailing of the steamship Bahia Blanca for New York, under the Argentine flag. It is learned, however, that England reserves its rights, as a member of the allied reparations commission, to have a voice in the determination of that body as to the disposition of this ship, which was purchased by Argentina from Germany during the war.

Mr. Macleay informed the foreign minister that, so far as Great Britain was concerned, there was no intention to seize the ship en route, the whole matter being in the hands of the allied reparations commission, which has not as yet taken up the subject. The departure of the Bahia Blanca which has been delayed pending Mr. Macleay's arrival, is now expected within the next 10 days.

As authoritatively outlined here, the British government's position has been that the Bahia Blanca is one of the German ships which Germany would have been obliged to surrender under the reparations clauses of the treaty if the vessel had not been sold. It is pointed out that if this boat is excepted a precedent would be established for other German ships similarly disposed of, or which could be sold. There is a well founded impression here that it is probable when the matter of disposition of German ships is taken up by the reparations commission, that body will call on Germany to produce the Bahia Blanca and that when Germany informs the commission the vessel is in the possession of Argentina, a demand will be made that Germany refund to the allies the price for which the Bahia Blanca was sold, thus upholding the principle of reparation.

GOLDINE MEDICINE

This is what they say about Goldine: "Over a year ago I had the grippe and it left me in bad shape. I had catarrh and severe headaches, was troubled with coughing and spitting in the morning, and rheumatism in my muscles and joints, while my arms and shoulders were very bad. My fingers were so numb that I lost all sense of feeling in them. I could hardly eat anything without suffering severely after meals. This Goldine has done wonders for me. In a few days my pain was all gone and I can now eat foods of all kinds that I have been unable to touch for years. I am only too glad to give my endorsement to all good, honest medicine that does actually produce results. I trust that those who know me will take advantage of my endorsement and give this wonderful medicine a trial. Mr. William Pierce says: 'I had kidney and bladder trouble for several years, brought on by a strain or heavy lifting. I had to get up many times at night and I had pains across my back so severe that I could hardly endure it. I was also troubled with rheumatism in my knees, joints and muscles and was in pretty bad shape all over. I have tried lots of different medicines but have never cured my ailment. I have now used another medicine that puts new life into a person and benefits the entire system like this Goldine has. My wife is also taking it and it has about cured her of a bad cold of long standing. We are both praising it to everybody.' Remember Goldine name at Dows Saturday.

A telephone message from Crystal Falls, 15 miles away, however, notified McDonough that Major Dalrymple, in anticipation of trouble, had issued 50 rounds of ammunition to each man in his party. The prosecutor then advised from River citizens to go home and avoid any demonstration.

Yesterday Mr. McDonough warned Major Dalrymple that if he carried out his plan and arrested anyone in Iron county without a warrant or searched any private home for liquor, the county officers would "arrest every man in your party and put them in jail."

No Arrests Made
The prohibition director already had received orders from Mr. Kramer calling off the "armed invasion" and no arrests were made.

"Reports that I took the 11 barrels of wine from Leo Grove, federal prohibition supervisor for northern Michigan, and the state police, and returned it to the Italians from whom it was taken, are false," McDonough declared yesterday.

"I confessed this wine when I found it in the possession of Grove. I placed my own men in charge and put the barrels in a safe place."

Following a conference between Prosecuting Attorney McDonough and Major Dalrymple, the latter announced that he would send his men back to Chicago.

Police Chief Sensiba, one of the men whose arrest Dalrymple had planned, accompanied Mr. McDonough to the conference. Sensiba was armed with a warrant for Maj. Dalrymple's arrest.

The warrant charges Dalrymple with circulating malicious libel. Major Dalrymple, answering McDonough's ultimatum, declared he was here to enforce the law and would perform his duties regardless of threats by the prosecutor.

Calix Major "Grandstand Performer"
McDonough charged Dalrymple with being a "grandstand performer, moving picture actor and publicity seeker."

Iron River was filled with miners and workmen yesterday to watch the maneuvering of federal and county forces. Since early morning natives trekked in over the hills on snowshoes and skis in anticipation of the expected battle in Iron River. Only two events have broken the monotony of the day for them.

One was the spectacular meeting of the opposing leaders in the crowded lobby of the Iron Inn, and the other was the equally spectacular destruction of nine barrels of red wine.

sledge, knocked the heads from the barrels and allowed the confiscated liquor to gush out into a three-foot snowdrift.

Prosecutor McDonough, who took the wine away from the federal and state raiders, had placed it in the basement for safe keeping. The heavy barrels were loaded on a two-horse sleigh and hauled to the center of a nearby street, where Major Dalrymple accomplished their destruction. Entry of Washington authorities in the case, with orders to suspend operations here, has destroyed prohibition enforcement in the upper peninsula. Major Dalrymple declared yesterday. Vigorous prosecution of Mr. McDonough and his aides for interfering with the federal raiders was necessary to show that the law must be obeyed he said. Later he said he would go to Washington to lay the case before Commissioner Kramer.

BLISS NATIVE HERBS TABLETS

If you want to have good health, feel vigorous, and have that healthy glow to the skin, you must keep your KIDNEYS, LIVER and BOWELS free from impurities. If they have ceased to function properly take BLISS NATIVE HERB TABLETS, which are made of vegetable drugs only. They do not produce harsh, gripping pains, but cause the bowels to move like so many cathartics. Nor do they, like so many cathartics, leave you with that tired, exhausted feeling. They not only correct the trouble, but cure the disease, eventually restoring that normal condition that does not necessitate the continued use of laxatives. Each box contains a GUARANTEED coupon, and is sealed with a blue seal bearing signature of ALONZO O. BLISS. For sale by all leading druggists in boxes containing 200 doses for $1 and a smaller size for 50c. Made by A. O. BLISS CO., WASHINGTON, D. C., ADV.

MADE IN U. S. A.

Don't think that you must buy an imported soap in order to get a real fine article. We are offering in four exquisite boxes, a superior toilet soap made by Colgate & Co. that is the equal of the finest foreign goods, and at much less money.

The odors are Violet de Mai, Indiant Rose, Florent and Sphero. The price is 50c per cake, $1.25 for box of three cakes. The perfume lasts to the last rinse.

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous. Because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and creates the distressing gas, which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will draw the gas, wind and bloated feeling out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bismarck Magnesia, in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk—is harmless to the stomach. Inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who can't get their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

PARIS TRAIN SERVICE
TIED UP BY STRIKE

PARIS, Feb. 25.—Suburban service out of this city, was affected by the railroad strike this morning, the Bastille station serving sections in the eastern part of the city, being closed. Eighty-three trains left the St. Lazare station this morning, but only a few arrived. At the Paris-Lyon and Mediterranean station, the situation was unchanged. Six trains were made up this morning, and were awaiting locomotives. The northern station and the Orleans terminal were normal.

Syndicalism threatens to appear in the strike situation. Demands that all railways be nationalized, are being made by strike leaders who continue their efforts to persuade all railroad workers in the country into the strike, which began with the walkout of the employees of the Paris, Lyon and Mediterranean system. In the provinces the movement is looked upon by the authorities as revolutionary instead of professional, according to the Echo de Paris.

All arrangements to ensure the delivery of food supplies to this city have been made by the government and municipal officials have taken similar steps. The question of placing the railroads under military control, as Premier Briand did in 1910, is being considered, but such a grave decision, the newspapers say, is impossible in the absence of Premier Millerand. It is said officials take the view that the Paris, Lyon, and Mediterranean company is entitled to the right to enforce discipline on its system, and it will receive support from the government if necessary.

The strike on this road was caused by the refusal of the road to reinstate in its service men who were discharged. It is alleged, because they absented themselves from duty to attend a union meeting.

Col. Timothy Moynahan, commander of the 68th New York Regiment, gave the drive considerable impetus when he addressed an overflow meeting in St. Peter's school hall in Grahams street last evening. Representatives of all sections of the city were present to hear the noted soldier and his enunciation of the principles for which American soldiers thought they were fighting was clear cut and to the point.

The meeting was called to order at 8.15 by Patrick J. Reynolds, chairman of St. Peter's campaign team, and following a brief musical program in which Lawrence Delaney and Huguette took part, Mr. Reynolds announced that St. Peter's parish had up to that time raised $45,440 for the drive but that an effort was to be made to have the amount increase this amount to $10,000 before the end of the week.

He then called on Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's, and the latter proved most interesting and entertaining.

"This bond drive is a great movement for the Irish in Ireland," he said, "a greater movement for the Irish in America and a still more momentous movement for America herself. It is not for the Irish race America would today find herself entangled in the League of Nations and once more under British domination."

Discussing the part which the Irish played in the Revolution, he quoted from a book entitled "The Hidden Phase of American History," showing the large number of Irishmen who served in the struggle.

"Washington's best men, his sharpshooters and his most effective commandos were Irish," he continued. "An Irish company was the last to leave Bunker Hill. Jack Barry, an Irishman, is heralded in history as the father of the American navy."

"What interest have Irish-Americans in this bond drive? One answer is that no true Irishman should forget the suffering and sacrifices of his forefathers that they might hand down their faith and nationality intact. A better answer is that British propaganda has put the Irish 'up' against it."

"We want to change that condition. We are here and we're going to stay. We want to take the place in this country that our race warrants us in taking."

"It is for all these things that this great drive has been launched and for these reasons you should give it our hearty support."

Rev. Dr. Keleher then read a tribute to Col. Moynahan, written by Rev. Fr. Duffy, chaplain of the 68th Regiment. The colonel, he said, had gone overseas with his regiment as a senior major and "over there" was promoted to colonel and awarded the distinction of being a hero.

Col. Moynahan then told of the many divisions with which he was associated at one time or another during the war, and said that he had an excellent opportunity to learn the opinion of American soldiers.

"In all my wanderings and in all my conversations," he said, "never did I hear an American soldier say that he would be willing to fight for England but hundreds of thousands of them were willing to fight to bring freedom to Ireland."

DEATHS
TRAIN AND TROLLEY
TRAFFIC TIED UP

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—The freezing temperature throughout northern New England today delayed many communities in recovering from the transportation tieup, caused by yesterday's storm. Service on the eastern division of the Boston & Maine, the Maine Central and the Boston & Albany Beach & Lynn railroads was partly maintained, and street car lines were crippled everywhere, frozen switches in the residential districts and snow drifts in the open country causing most of the trouble.

Track crews with picks and shovels were the only equipment sent out in many places. All trains on the Aroostook division of the Canadian Pacific railroad were cancelled for the first time in several years. In Bangor a general holiday was called by Mayor Woodman, to assist the street department clear away the ice and snow-drifts.

Rail communication between Portland, N. H., and Portland, Me., was over a single track of the Boston & Maine system, the others being blocked by a train and two snowpiles which were frozen in during the night.

Evangelical Revival
them. Dr. Stephens did not preach from the text he had planned, however, feeling that he might better reserve it until some Sunday afternoon when the weather was better suited. But he did adhere to the main purpose of the service and gave a splendid message to fathers and their boys from the text, "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts."

"I first want you to notice the personal pronouns," he said. "Search me, O God! Not the fellow sitting next you, but you and me. Not my next door neighbor. This is a personal message and I want you to forget everybody else and be perfectly honest with yourself and with God."

"Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me. There is no sham or shoddy in the man or woman who prays such a prayer as that. There is a lot of sham and shoddy in this world. If it were not for the pure fool law, I do not know what we should be eating. You see a magnificent head of hair, and you do not know whether it grew there or was glued there. When you buy furniture it is all centered up. There is a good deal of sham and veneer in people's lives."

"I want to tell you tonight, the world is sick and tired of humbug. If there is one thing the world wants today, it is sincerity, honesty."

"Nobody else may know anything about your life, but God knows all about it. I beg of you, do not try to hide yourself. Open your heart to God. He will put the knife in, but He will always put it in the palm of guided."

"I had a friend that had a great swelling on his ankle. He went to one of the naive artists. They kept putting on saline, when what was needed was the surgeon's knife. I promised God when I went into the ministry, that I was not going to be a naive artist. I am going to be helpful and loving, but please God I am going to put the knife in."

"What about the home life? Christianity is pre-eminently for the home. No man or woman has any business to shine brightly at the lodge or in business, without shining brightly at home. I wonder if you have family prayer in your home. I wonder, husband and wife, if you are living as closely together as you ought to be. Husbands and wives are drifting apart today because they are crowding prayer out of their homes, because they are crowding the bible out, because they are crowding Christ out. The home life is going to settle the destiny of America, and I am praying that the home life in Lowell will get right with God."

"How is it in your business life? A man said to me, that no man could be in business and be a Christian. That is a lie. It insults every honest, decent business man. A man can be prosperous in business, and he can be a clean, honest Christian."

Railroads To Build Chapel Cars

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Chapel cars, equipped with living quarters for a minister and his family, and with seating accommodations for 60 persons, will be built for every railroad out of Chicago. "As money is available," according to an announcement today by the Northern Baptist church. Seven such cars already are operating across the continent, the announcement said, and 19,000 men and women have professed conversion in them.

Prince and Princess of Hesse Coming

NICE, France, Feb. 26.—Prince and Princess Christian of Hesse have arrived in this city, traveling incognito under the names of the Duke and Duchess of Brabant. After a sojourn here, they will go to America to visit the princess's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reid Rogers of New York city.

U. S. Ambassador to Italy Ready To Sail

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Robert Underwood Johnson, newly appointed ambassador to Italy, called at the White House today, to receive his final instructions before leaving for Rome. He said he expected to sail about March 18.

Not To Use Gas Against Tribes of India

LONDON, Feb. 26. (Canadian Press).—The use of poison gas against the frontier tribes of India, is not proposed except in retaliation. A statement to this effect was made in the house of commons last night, on behalf of the government.

WORST TROLLEY TIE UP ASSAULT AND BATTERY OF THE WINTER

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 26.—The worst trolley transportation conditions of the winter extend today in western Massachusetts as the result of last night's high wind, which filled in lines that had been laboriously excavated after heavier storms. The few inches of light snow that fell Tuesday night drifted heavily. Inter-city lines were most affected. Holyoke was virtually isolated, from its suburbs with five outlying lines covered by drifts and rails buried in ice formed in last night's near zero weather. Lines to Northampton, Chicopee and South Hadley were out of use. Between Ware and Palmer, east of this city, an express car and plow were frozen in. While the line was closed by snow, lines between this city and Hartford on the west side of the Connecticut river also were closed and between Westfield and Huntington service was suspended.

GIRLS' COMMUNITY SERVICE CLUB

The Girls' Community Service club, now occupying quarters on the third and fourth floors of the Rundles building, is expanding its program of activities in a manner which seems destined to increase its membership far above the present mark of 1300.

At a meeting of the club executive committee tonight tentative plans will be discussed for the publication of a monthly club magazine, much after the fashion of school bulletins, and prepared and edited by the membership, or its representatives in the form of an editorial staff.

The club girls have had the idea for some time and feel now that they are ready to tackle it. If the discussion tonight crystallizes into tangible action, it is probable that work will at once commence on the selection or election of a publishing staff and that the first edition of the magazine will make its appearance on April 1.

It undoubtedly will embrace, editorial, social, personal, athletic, literary, music and news departments and should have a circulation at the start of approximately 500. It will be for the purpose of accurately chronicling all club activities and will be highly educational with its columns open for contributory articles from the entire membership.

New Gymnasium
The new club gymnasium on the third floor of the building, in quarters formerly occupied by the carpenter's union, is already in use, the first gym class and basketball game being held therein on Tuesday evening of this week. New paint and burnishing of corrugators and pipes have splendidly transformed the large hall, while the smaller rooms on the front of the building are being renovated to make way for locker and dressing rooms, office space and the installation of shower baths. A new basketball court has been marked out on the gym floor and the girls now will have the chance to play without going to Rogers Hall, which in the past has been available for recreational games.

Coal and Pipe Difficulties
Purchasing Agent Edward H. Foye is being kept on the jump these days in order to keep pace with the demands of the water department for coal. However, he has a little sleuth work in Boston this week he was able to get 250 tons of soft coal that had just arrived in port from the Northern Coal Co. This will be consigned immediately to the water department.

Mr. Foye has a requisition from Commissioner Salmon of the water department for 111 tons of water pipe but after an investigation of the market the conclusion has been reached that a delay in purchase would be advisable. Few firms can promise shipment before June and there are indications of a decrease in price later on. Accordingly, the purchasing agent will recommend to Commissioner Salmon that he secure only what pipe he needs for immediate use.

Weekly Payroll
This week's payroll for municipal departments totals $30,401.42.

REP. CORBETT WILL TALK ON CHARTER

The most important assembly of chamber of commerce members for the discussion of matters of vital civic concern to date is scheduled for next Tuesday evening in Memorial hall at 8 o'clock, when Rep. Thomas J. Corbett, father of the so-called Corbett charter bill, will be the principal speaker. Pres. William N. Goodell will be in telephone communication with Rep. Corbett last night and the latter consented to talk at the assembly.

To obviate any chance of confusion with the discussion forums being held by Lowell Community Service, the chamber of commerce will term its meetings of similar nature, members' assemblies.

No records will be kept of Tuesday evening's meeting and no action taken. Cards telling of the meeting were put in the mails to all members today and it is hoped that the hall will be filled to the doors. The meeting will be open to chamber members only.

Rep. Corbett will speak on his charter for the purpose of information and subsequent discussion. The meeting will be open to general comment at the close of his talk and it is believed that much of an educational value will be gained by the members.

gushed service cross. He then introduced the colonel, who was given a rousing reception.

"I accept your cordial greetings," he said, "as a testimonial of the esteem in which you hold the 68th Regiment. The spirit of that organization in the great war was such as to warrant your regard. We were able to hold up always before our men the ideals of the men who made up the regiment from 1861 to 1865: I assure you that to those ideals was due in a great measure the splendid record which our men made over there."

"I am here tonight to tell you something of the feelings of the American soldiers going into war. In the course of my service on the other side I think I traveled among the soldiers as extensively as anybody connected with the American forces. For that reason I believe I have authority to interpret the spirit of the American fighters."

"We entered the war to protect American rights, to conquer no nations and to tyrannize over no people. With the inspiration of the call of our commander-in-chief, President Wilson, a call which rang around the world, the American soldiers carried their flag unsullied from this country to the Rhine."

"What was that call? Let me quote from the president's speech to congress on April 2, 1917."

Here Col. Moynahan read excerpts from the president's speech calling upon congress to declare war in which he enunciated the principle of self-determination for small nations and other ideals.

"Those ideals," he continued, "were used day after day by those of us who had the training of American soldiers; they were kept day after day before the minds of our men. It was the spirit of those ideals that enabled the Americans to carry all before them."

"America won the war and the French, British and Germans knew it. Italy said in his final report that we 'occupied a bridgehead at Coblenz.' But British stupidity and prejudice would not allow him to tell of the real contribution of America to the war."

"England cried loudly for America's aid when she was receiving staggering German blows. Then she published America's principles and accused them in her papers. Those principles were also accepted in Ireland and she has set up the kind of a government she wants and is going to have."

"America's debt to Ireland was freely admitted in the days of Franklin, who said rapine, treachery and violence marked British rule in Ireland in 1788. It is even worse today than in Franklin's time because England has found new methods of tyrannizing."

"The day has gone by when America is willing to admit that Britannia rules the waves. Franklin admitted that Irish commerce was restricted by England and now the business men of this country are beginning to see that one of the principles for which we entered the war—freedom of the seas—has not yet been won."

"It would seem that the day is here

Two more Lowell men were forwarded from the local naval recruiting station today by Chief Carey. They were James McDowell, 105 Crosby street, who has already served several years, and William Richard, 93 Bellevue street. McDowell will receive a rating of chief gunner's mate, while Richard goes down as apprentice seaman.

Frank McLean and Paul Chief Peter Caddell entertained the members of Clan Grant at a regular meeting held last night, the former with a talk on Sir Walter Scott and the latter with an address on Robert Burns. In the course of the meeting routine business was transacted and it was voted to invite the members of the Andover clan for a good time on April 20. The ladies' auxiliary will also invite the ladies' auxiliary to the Andover clan and a double program will be arranged.

John B. O'Lea, of this city, a member of the military police unit of the 26th Division, has received his appointment as a federal agent and reported for duty in Boston today to the head of the department for the enforcement of national prohibition, William J. McCarty. His district will embrace New England and New York state outside of New York city. The salary is about $1800 a year. Mr. O'Lea applied for the position several months ago and his friends are glad with him on the receipt of his commission.
